MOBILIZES ARMY AS CATHOLIC CHURCHES CLOSE

Nogales, Ariz., July 23 (A.P.).—A semi-official dispatch to the Herald from Mexico City today said the Secretary of War in the Calles Cabinet had ordered all Federal troops in the republic to be under arms and ready for instant action on Aug. 1, at which time, reports have previously stated, the Catholic churches throughout the nation will be closed under orders from high ecclesiastical officials.

GIRL ABANDONS INFANT, FLEES CAMBRIDGE POLICE

Slipping into an alley betwen Green and Pleasant streets, Cambridge, two doors from police headquarters, a bob-haired girl of 19 or 20 laid a two-months-old infant girl on the ground today and fled through Green street, where she disappeared. Two 12-year-old girls who followed lost sight of the bob-haired abandoner after they had reported her at to aPtrolman Parker Murphy, who took up the chase, but in vain.

Chicago Gets the Fight

YESTERDAY six bandits held up a jewelry shop in New York, shot a clerk, killed the owner. Before he died, the owner killed one bandit. The five others dragged the dead man to their car, made sure he was dead, and threw him out on a crowded thoroughfare farther on.

A few minutes later, five bandits held up an Italian bank, shot one clerk and ran when another clerk opened fire.

Police say the same gang, minus one man killed, did the second "job."

"They were coked up," the police say, meaning that they were made reckless by cocaine. Drugs play a part in our crime wave.

CHICAGO will have the big Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight fight on September 11. The "gate" is expected to be $2,000,000. Dempsey will get $400,000; Tunney, win or lose, $150,000. And sweet charity gets $100,000. Mr. Rickard, who has brains, gets the rest minus expenses.

NEW YORK is supposed to be writhing in jealousy of Chicago. Some New York officials are writhing genuinely. Chicago has taken their bread and butter.

One hundred thousand dollars for sweet charity is supposed to pacify fussy citizens who say that no prize fight should be allowed even if it does yield $2,000,000.

POINCARE COMPLETES NEW FRENCH CABINET

Paris, July 23.—M. Raymond Poincare has completed his cabinet, he informed President Doumergue shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

He decided to ignore the protests of the Radical-Socialist caucus and is himself heading the cabinet.

The cabinet, which M. Poincare submitted to President Doumergue, was officially announced as follows:

M. Raymond Poincare, premier and minister of finance; M. Barthou, minister of justice and vice-president; M. Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs; Senator Albert Sarraut, minister of interior; M. Edouard Herriot, minister of public instruction; M. Leygues, minister of marine; M. LIGHTNING BOLT HITS DYNAMITE; FIVE DEAD

Strasburg Junction, Va., July 23 (A.P.).—A bolt of lightning which struck a forgotten charge of dynamite was held responsible today for the death of five men and the critical injury of four others in the Powhatan Stone Quarry here.

The dynamite was deposited in a niche fifteen years ago and none of those working in the quarry had given a thought of it for years, until lightning flash and deafening explosion sent tons of rock hurtling through the air.

NEEDED TO PROSECUTE DR. WALSH

With the heaviest part of their investigation into the tragic death of Edith Louise Greene completed, police and detectives today turned their efforts toward finding the jewelry and clothing worn by the State ward on her last trip through the streets before death.

Also are the police desirous of locating the automobile used in conveying the hacked body of the girl to the roadside spot outside New Calvary Cemetery, where it was found.

Much importance is attached to the car and Edith's effects, for they are necessary in completing the chain of evidence against Dr. Thomas Walsh, who is alleged to have performed the illegal surgery that resulted in the girl's pathetic end.

FIGHTING TO SAVE BIG E. BOSTON AREA

FOUR-ALARM FIRE THAT ROUTED SCORES

Photo shows firemen from many companies battling flames that licked through the plant of the Atlantic Works in East Boston with a loss estimated at $150.000. Scores of tenement dwellers in the vicinity fled for their lives, shipping was seriously menaced, at least one woman collapsed and traffic through a wide area was blocked.

SCORES IN FLIGHT AS FLAMES THREATEN TENEMENT DWELLERS

Roaring through the huge plant of the Atlantic Works, covering almost an entire block in East Boston, a four-alarm fire today drove all tenement dwellers of the district from their homes and caused a damage reckoned between $150,000 and $350,000.

The $150,000 estimate was made by Fire Chief Sennott and the $350,000 estimate by the owners of the company.

Mrs. Rose Martin, alone with her day-old infant in bed at No. 65 Border street, seized up the nestling baby, when flames seared the tenement block, groped her way to the street weakly and collapsed in an automobile in Maverick street, where she had taken refuge.

Others driven out by the intense heat of the fire and fear that the flames would sweep the section, included Carmine Pasano, his wife, Marie, and three children at No. 77 Border street; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tisi and three children, from No. 79 Border street; Mr. and Mrs. Liconini Leone and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolinski and six 44 DEAD IS HEAT AND STORM TOLL IN N. E.

Today's official forecast reads: Fair tonight and Saturday, somewhat cooler tonight; moderate northerly winds.

Refreshed by virtually the first night's sleep in 72 hours, Bostonians and New Englanders awoke today to find the almost unprecedented heat wave and the storm of nearly cyclonic proportions that broke its back, had taken toll of 44 lives.

The deaths, directly or indirectly due to the heat, were accompanied by scores of prostrations, while the storm did damage running into the hundreds of thousands, ravaging four States.

At the close of the second hottest July day in the history of the local wether bureau, when the mercury mounted to 103, the storm broke, children, from No. 65 Border street: Joseph McDonough, wife, Elizabeth, and three children, from No. 67 Border street.

Watchman William Hennessey, who has sounded alarms for many fires in the district, discovered the Atlantic Works ablaze when the smoke and flame were curling from out windows of the onestory brick machine shop building.

When District Chief Conroy arrived he ordered second, third and fourth alarms pulled in quick succession, for the flames had leaped to the four-story brick building housing the general offices and pattern shop and was headed for other buildings and two steamships in drydock, together with scores of yachts undergoing overhaulings.

FIRE SPREADS TO SHIP.

The wooden cabin and upper structure of the steel steamship Amolco, owned by the Boston Molasses Co., caught fire, but the flames were extinguished after the boat was towed 100 feet away.

At another part of the yard on the waterfront across from the Boston navy yard, the fourmasted schooner Ella Pierce Thurlow of the Crowell & Thurlow Steamship Co., caught fire in the furled sails, but long lines of hose were run out and the blaze extinguished.

All tenement houses along Border and Maverick streets were badly blistered, but none of them caught fire.

Washington, July 23.—A second Lady Cathcart case, developing with the efforts of the Department of Labor to deport Rosa Avann of Detroit, the Justice Department today demanded a ruling from the Supreme court, whether moral turpitude is ground for deportation.

Immigration authorities said the woman had admitted being married to an Englishman and an American at the same time.

bringing death and desolation to some and relief to thousands of others.

THREE WOMEN DIE.

The death toll from the hot wave continued to mount today, with four additional fatalities reported from Thursday's prostrations.

Overcome while attending the Women's Missionary Conference at Northfield, Miss May Wirtelia of Bogata, N. J., died today in a Greenfield hospital. Deaths of two women were reported from Lowell and Lawrence.

Mrs. Sarah M. Hannaford, ninety-two, of No. 58 Chestnut street, North Andover, who was prostrated yesterday, died today.

Katherine Ryan, of No. 73 Third street, Lowell, died at St. John's Hospital, that city after being overcome.

3 STORMS RAGE.

Seventy-fice-year-old Joseph Juck of No. 19 Litchfield street, Worcester, who was overcome while berry picking yesterday, was found in a semi-conscious condition today in the Gate Lane section. Juck, who had laid out all night in the storm, was taken to the Worcester City Hospital where it is believed he will die.

Mrs. Mary Silvia, sixty-eight, of Fall River died today from heat prostration of yesterday.

For hours the tremendous electrical disturbance rumbled and reverberated through New England, accompanied by a wind that at times attained a velocity of more than 100 miles an hour.

In some sections there were actually three storms, the thunder clouds mounting up in the west, rolling to the coast discharging their burdens on the way, and then forming again.

The storm swept out of the Berkshires with dramatic suddenness, although forcast by Metereologist Loveland earlier in the day. Thousands of persons seeking relief in the cool waters at the seashore were caught unprepared, and fled for shelter as the sky began to darken.

DAMAGE GREAT.

Before it passed out to sea late last night, the storm destroyed orchards, uprooted trees, levelled telephone and telegraph poles, unroofed houses, paralyzed traffic and killed two persons in northern Massachusetts, southern Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

During the entire day, due to the heat or the storm which partly dispelled it, there were twenty deaths, nine by drowning, nine from heat and two attributed to the storm. On the two previous days the weather had claimed sixteen lives, while prostrations for the three days mounted well over three score.

In some places the wind attained the proportions of the famous Kansas twisters, snapping roofs from houses and tossing heavy objects about as though there were toys.

In Portsmouth, N. H., an observation tower was sent hurtling to the ground severely injuring a man. A falling silo brought death to a farmer near Brattleboro, Vt., while in Lawrence the worst gale since 1890 dropped a tree into a baby carriage, crushing its occupant to death.

TRAIN IS SAVED.

Near Manchester, N. H., a tree was felled across the rails of the Boston & Maine Railroad just before a crack express train was due, the train being flagged in time.

In Maine a similar act occurred, this time the engineer of a Maine Central train stopping his engine a few yards from the obstacle.

At North Adams the Boston & Albany roundhouse roof was lifted off by the wind, and in the same city a church spire was truncated.

At Freeport, Me., a slender trolley wire held a falling tree until a party of autoists could reach safety.

Booth Tarkington, the author, was swept out to sea by the storm which came down while he was motorboating off Kennebunkport, Me., but was rescued by another party.

James Montgomery Flagg, the artist went to the rescue of Isaac Cook, wealthy St. Louis business man at Biddeford Pool, Me., who collapsed after entering the water immediately following a meal. Flagg got the man ashore only to find he had died of heart trouble.

At Wells Beach, Me., three houses were flattened, and at York Beach and points farther north the tents of automobile campers were scattered for miles.

The great intensity of the storm was experienced outside of Boston, little damage being done in this city. In Haverhill trees were uprooted, 200 telephones were disabled, awnings were ripped from stores and windows smashed.

At Plaistow, N. H., a cupola on the house of Dr. E. A. Landman was torn loose and sent crashing through the roof of a barn. The gale also ripped up a garage and shattered an ice house.

At Camp Devens chairs and canvas porch coverings were borne through the air on the wings of the gale, but the old barracks stood up under the strain.

In Dover, N. H., the fire alarm system and telephone lines were out of commission for some hours, and a high tension wire was snapped, cutting off the electric light current for the street lights.

After the Storm

Dead—40.

Prostrated—60.

Trains and trolley service tied up.

Gale picks up huge silo in Guilford, Vt., and buries man beneath it.

Wind wrenches a limb from a tree on Lawrence Common and hurls it upon a baby carriage, killing little occupant.

At York Beach hurricane picked up hundreds of men, women and children, hurtled them through the air, and dashed them upon the sands of the beach.

In every part of New England the toll of property damage is being taken today, and will probably reach millions.

At Portsmouth, N. H., wind snatched a 60-foot chimney from the roof of the Hotel Wentworth.

At Manchester, N. H., the wreck of the crack Montreal-Boston train, the Ambassador, narrowly averted, when a huge tree was thrown across the rails by the storm.

Dover, N. H., totally dark through the night; light and fire alarm service out of commission.

Crops all over New England ruined.

38 Injured, $1,000,000 Loss in N. Y. Cyclone

Syracuse, N. Y., July 23 (A.P.).—Tearing down through Madison, Chenango and Cortland counties, a gale of tornado-like proportions injured thirty-eight persons, caused property damage estimated at $1,000,000 and left wrecked farm buildings and crops in its twisted path.

The thirty-eight injured were peapickers on the farm of Floyd Nower, near Earlville. They had sought shelter in a barn when the building collapsed.

The Girl Who Never Had a Chance

By Paul Whelton

CHAPTER V.

Edith was sixteen, the grownup age when a girl leaves her childhood forever behind, if only in her own persuasion.

Sixteen! Beautiful in face and figure. Soft curves where the angles had been. A deeper, warmer glow in the brown eyes, larger even than before, if that were possible.

Vivacious, and yet shy. Moods that are the moods of sixteen. Long communings with self when home lessons were done and away and the balm of the Spring night lay as a soothing blanket over all the night.

Edith Louise Greene made the most of her last year at the High School of Practical Arts.

A girl quick to grasp teachings, capable of retaining them. Her marks were high. Never a subject did she "flunk" throughout her course.

Eagerly she snatched up every crumb of education in her ambition to forge ahead, to lift herself above the common lot of a State ward. Her thoughts were always in this regard. The Mays—Mr. and Mrs. May—encouraged her in her ambitions.

"LIFE, LOVE, LAUGHTER."

Sixteen—going on seventeen—with all life before her—life and love and laughter. Even a State ward should be entitled to these.

The Fall of that last school year merged quickly into Winter—Winter softened again into Spring, the school year ended, and it was Summer.

It was Summer at Third and I streets when youth met youth and when Fate, behind a grimy, sweaty hand, hid a gruesome, toothless grin.

"She was a pretty girl, with pretty brown eyes and dark hair."

It is James Vincent Ford's description of the girl, mature beyond her years; description by "Jimmie" Ford, the keen-eyed, sprightly, likeable lad from Telegraph street, just around the corner as distances go in South Boston.

Youth called to Youth that tepid day at Third and I streets and Fate unloosed the strings and slacked the bridles.

"HER BOY, HIS GIRL."

Never before had Edith felt particular liking for any boy. She liked them all as a full-hearted girl likes full-hearted, fun-engaged boys.

But now—somehow—things were different. This boy at Third and I streets was her boy; the girl was his girl.

By no spoken word did they understand but by a telepathic process—the lover's look, timbre of the voice, a gesture. On such quick roots does romance grow.

Romance on a South Boston street corner! Youth and the Summertime!

Two years to live! And in the background, breathed with tainted breath the evil genii.

Jimmie Ford was nineteen then. Edith Greene was sixteen, daughter of love and laughter, living down gaily her dull beginning, facing with equal gaiety the uninspiring months of toil that were to come in her position as State ward.

IN A NEW "OUR CROWD."

They went together, Jimmie and Edith, but they went as part of the new "Our Crowd."

Along the beach, they went together with the crowd in the daylight hours, and from the floats of yacht clubs they performed feats of diving not possible along the stretch where there was no float or raft.

Slim flashing bodies, white and pink, cleaving the cooling waters. Gay cries, dares, swift, clean strokes of expert swimmers, slipping through the green sea.

Dances together on rare evenings. Yacht club parties and social gatherings where the newest steps were performed expertly in all their intricacies.

"Dates," engagements, moments at rendezvous when the blood quickened in the pulses! The lovers' acceleration!

TROTH TO HIS DEATH.

Throughout that eventful Summer, Jimmie and Edith built up the foundation of a troth that was to descend to Earth again with tragic swiftness—and then beneath the Earth in a wind-swept field of dead.

Throughout the Summer, into the Fall! And then, suddenly, as the chill of the season came on, Edith left the home of Mr. and Mrs. May in South Boston, where she had been since a child of seven.

Later she was to return to the Mays as a visitor but now she was sent by the State to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Kelly in Winchester.

Kelly was a Winchester policeman whose wife suffered from heart trouble and he had asked assistance for her about the house.

For two weeks only, the State ward was assigned to the Kelly household, but although she despised the tasks of a housekeeper, she fell so in love with Mrs. Kelly and her motherliness that she requested the State Welfare Board to allow her to stay longer.

BRIEF HAPPINESS.

Happiness in this household was denied Edith for long, however. Several months later Mrs. Kelly died of heart trouble and her helper, too young, of course, to be a housekeeper alone was faced with the necessity of making new friends.

It was an attribute of Edith that she made friends easily, so that when she was taken into the home of Mrs. A. J. Buckley at No. 592 Humphrey street, Swampscott, the girl, then past seventeen by ten months, fitted herself perfectly into the new atmosphere.

During all this time Jimmy met

'Y' GIRLS STILL IN FIGHT TO KEEP HOME

Edith Greene's pathetic death in the Mattapan tragedy has caused the girls who live at the Y. W. C. A. Home on Warrenton street to renew with vigor their war against abandonment of the institution, the first of its kind in the world.

Leaders in the protest said today that the recent cases of Miss Greene and of Lillian McCullough of Waltham, show the need for throwing every possible safeguard around girls who are compelled to work or study away from home. Such protection, they argued, was all the more urgent for homeless girls.

"The public may have got the impression," said one of the girls today, "that we lost our fight and have quit because we have been denied the right to hold protest meetings and because nothing has got into the papers of late, but we are just as indignant and active as we were after the first announcement that we would have to pack up and look for board and lodging elsewhere.

"We feel that sale of the Warrenton street home is a direct violation of the wishes of its founder, Pauline Durant. It has been a home for working girls since 1874. It should be preserved as a shrine, if for no other than historic and traditional purposes.

"The girls are satisfied that they are the victims of commercial greed, that when the chance to sell the Warrenton street and the Berkeley street properties for a nice profit came, our welfare was forgotten.

"As for promise of a larger and better home, the plans for the building to be erected at the southwesterly corner of Stuart and Clarendon streets, for which the drive for $1,500,000 was held, show that it will not be a home for working girls in any sense of the word.

"It is to be an elaborate administration building and recreational center with accommodations only for transient women.

"In other words it is to be a women's hotel, the rates of which will be prohibitive for we girls who have lived for years in the simple comforts and excellent protection of the Warrenton street home.

"All but 60 of the 130 girls have left Warrenton street under the edict to find new quarters as early as possible.

BOLT STARTS $250,000 FIRE

Hatfield, July 23.—Fire resulting from lighting caused an estimated quarter of a million dollars damage in the tobacco warehouse district here today.

Barns owned by William H. Burke were set ablaze by lightning and the flames spread to a tobacco warehouse belonging to Mrs. Carrie Billing and containing 1,000 cases of leaf tobacco of the J. P. Lorillard Company.

Firemen saved another warehouse containing 800 cases of Lorillard tobacco.

Trees felled by a terrific storm knocked down telephone wires and caused a costly delay in communicating with Northampton for aid.

RUNAWAY GIRLS LIVE ON CONES AND 'DOGS'

Helene Fontainne and Grace Prescott, two pretty 15-year-old girls of Springdale, Me., are victims of a modern-day wanderlust.

They have the same itching feet that once sent adventurers out on the long white road seeking new worlds to conquer, but the feet of the two Maine girls itch for the dance-hall floors, and their conquests are latter-day sheiks.

Sergt. Gallagher saw the two on a bench in Franklin Field at 3 in the morning. Two young men were with the girls, but they ran away.

At Station 19 the girls told where they were from. They had run away previously, they said, but were caught in Lynn. This time they "bummed" auto rides to Revere Beach. They had but $2 between them, and they told the police they wanted to see the bright lights and the dance halls. They had lived on hot dogs and ice cream horns, and slept on park benches or beneath the trees in the suburbs of Boston.

They were turned over to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and will be arraigned on Tuesday next as runaways. Meanwhile their parents have been informed of the plight of the adventurers.

SOVIET HONORS DEAD LENINE LIEUTENANT

Moscow, July 23 (A.P.).—With honors paralleled only by those accorded Nicoli Lenin, the body of Felix E. Dzerzhinsky, chairman of the Supreme Council of National Economy and once head of Russia's much feared secret police, was buried in the Revolutionary Martyrs Cemetery, just behind Lenin's wooden mausoleum in red square.

As dusk fell, and while the entire country paused ten minutes, the red-stained inewood coffin enclosing the body was carried by former associates of the dead commisar through densely crowded and beflagged streets of the city.

Manila, July 23.—Governor General Leonard Wood denied today that he was to resign as Governor. He said such reports were false.

HEAD OF CULT IS ACCUSED BY MYSTIC

Investigation into the effort of "School of Sacred Science" to find a foothold in Boston reveals today that its leader, Ralph M. de Bit, less than a year ago was made defendant in a $10,000 alienation of affections suit in Denver, Col.

The suit was brought by Dr. Bhagat Singh Thind, an Indian mystic, who alleged that de Bit kept Mrs. Thind in his colony in the Colorado Rockies, 100 miles from Denver.

At the time stories of close-to-nature programs followed at the colony floated into Denver. After the arrival of cold weather this camp was abandoned, and de Bit's return is awaited with interest to see whether it will be reopened.

Dr. Thind's wife was an American girl. The suit which he filed is docketed for trial in September.

A week after filing the alienation suit Thind filed a suit for divorce, alleging mental cruelty and desertion. Mrs. Thind, who is the daughter of a Pacific Coast editor and who met and married Thind at Spokane, Wash., shortly after his graduation from the University of California, countered with an application for alimony, pending hearing of the suit.

Thind was ordered to pay $30 a month into the court registry for the suport of his wife and twice subsequently was cited for contempt by reason of his failure to pay on schedule.

The divorce suit also will go to trial in September.

De Bit, before leaving California, was associated for a time with Mrs. Margaret Rowan, who gained international note when she induced a number of her disciples to dispose of their worldly goods and retire with her to the top of a mountain to await the coming of the end of the world.

Following difficulties with the California Blue Sky Commission over the sale of stock in his school of Sacred Science de Bit went to Denver. He lectured for a time in the leading hotels of the city and enlisted some of the most prominent men and women there in his following.

He then retired to Grousemont, an isolated spot in the Colorado Rockies, about 100 miles from Denver.

KIP RHINELANDER TO APPEAL DECISIONS

White Plains, N. Y., July 23 (I.N.S.).—Not only will Leonard Kip Rhinelander appeal to the Appellate Division from the decision dismissing his complaint for annulment of marriage, but he will also appeal from the allowance of $12,000 additional counsel fees.

Formal notice of both appeals was on file today in the office of the county clerk. The two decisions in favor of Alice Jones Rhinelander of New Rochelle weer signed two months ago by Supreme Justice Joseph Morschauser, although the jury which found that Rhinelander had not been decided as to his wife's color reported last December.

SPENT ENTIRE LOAN ON WAR, BRITAIN SAYS

London, July 23 (Universal)—"Great Britain provided the sterling and neutral currencies to meet all its own requirements throughout the war, and in addition bore the burden of covering the sterling requirements of her continental allies.

"Had it not been for the fact that the United States did not feel able, on entering the war, to relieve her of this additional burden, Great Britain would have been able to meet her expenditures from resources she placed at the disposal of her allies, and in all human probability the British debt to the United States never would have been incurred."

This was a part of a long statement issued by the British Treasury and intended as an answer to statements of Mellon, quoted by Churchill, asserting that England borrowed a large portion of its debt for purely commercial purposes. The statement continued:

"It is quite true that a large proportion of the debt was spent for the purchase of foodstuffs for the civil population as well as for the armies in the field, but this was recognized at the time, and it is obvious, that supplies for civilians were as essential as other war requirements.

"The facts are indisputable that the money borrowed by Great Britain was spent, firstly in the United States; secondly, on United States commodities; thirdly, for purposes approved by the United States treasury and fourthly, in accordance with the terms exacted by the United States Congress for the purpose of prosecuting the war.

FED ONLY BREAD AND WATER IN STOCKADE

Another, Released, Swears to Hearing Blows and Screams of Victims

Little Rock, Ark., July 23 (I.N.S.).—The seal of the notary public has been affixed to the charge that Winona Green, Eunice Gregory and Ida May Smith, were whipped by a male prison guard at the State Farm for Women following their unsuccessful attempt to escape several weeks ago.

A sworn statement given by Mrs. Leona Bruce, who was released Wednesday from the institution through habeas corpus proceedings, says:

"I heard the blows and the women's screams. It was terrible."

Winona Green is serving a life sentence in the institution for the murder of her father-in-law here two years ago. Eunice Gregory is serving a one-year term for larceny and the Smith girl, who is but eighteen years of age, is serving an indefinite term for immorality.

The trio escaped from the institution several weeks ago but were captured on the following day and returned.

In her affidavit, Mrs. Bruce says:

"The Girls said the whipping boss gave them 13 licks and brought the blood. They have them in the stockade now, feeding them bread and water and sometimes bread and milk.

"They whipped two other girls for slipping off, so I was informed by the girls there, and they said they could tell me many more things but was afraid to do so for fear they would be punished."

IT'S SO HOT 'CAL' QUITS FISHING

Paul Smith's, N. Y., July 23 (A.P.)—Summer residents who had only occasional glimpses of President Coolidge in the first days of his Adirondack outing, are seeing him more frequently.

Mr. Coolidge makes the three-mile drive from the Summer White House to the executive offices alone, except for his Secret Service detail. Sometimes he stays only a few minutes with his secretaries—on other occasions he remains as long as two hours in the little lakeside cottage that serves as Summer working headquarters.

The hot weather of the last two days apparently caused the President [illegible] fort, although the thermometer scaled to the highest [illegible] heat curtailed the fishing activities on Osgood Lake and he has spent his time either resting or working.

BOY, 16, SEIZED AS STRANGLER SUSPECT

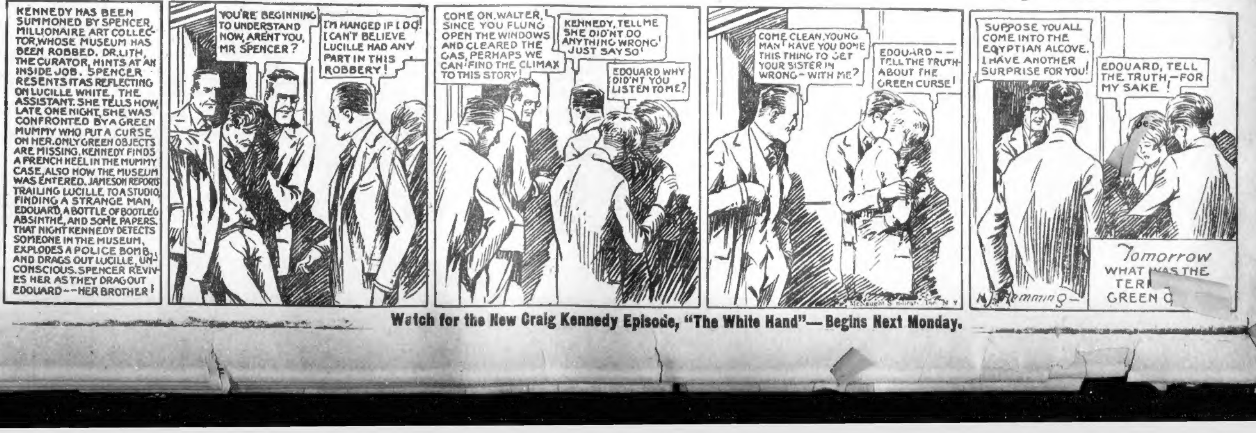
Wildwood, N. J., July 23 (A.P.).—A sixteen-year-old boy, said by police to be the "strangler" who has entered homes here and at Wildwood Crest at night and frightened girls and women, was under arrest today.

He is William Spencer ukoski, Wildwood Crest. According to police, he confessed breaking into several homes in the last three weeks. He was arrested when a detective noticed a pair of white knickers and white stockings on the wash line back of the Zukoski's home. They were similar to garments worn by the so-called "strangler" when he was pursued into a swamp Tuesday night.

Craig Kennedy in "The Green Curse"

Who's Guilty?

By Arthur B. Reeve



KENNEDY HAS BEEN SUMMONED BY SPENCER, MILLIONAIRE ART COLLECTOR, WHOSE MUSEUM HAS BEEN ROBBED. DR. LITH, THE CURATOR, HINTS AT AN INSIDE JOB. SPENCER RESENTS IT AS REFLECTING ON LUCILLE WHITE, THE ASSISTANT. SHE TELLS HOW, LATE ONE NIGHT, SHE WAS CONFRONTED BY A GREEN MUMMY WHO PUT A CURSE ON HER. ONLY GREEN OBJECTS ARE MISSING. KENNEDY FINDS A FRENCH HEEL IN THE MUMMY CASE, ALSO HOW THE MUSEUM WAS ENTERED. JAMESON REPORTS TRAILING LUCILLE TO A STUDIO, FINDING A STRANGE MAN, EDOUARD, A BOTTLE OF BOOTLEG ABSINTHE, AND SOME PAPERS. THAT NIGHT KENNEDY DETECTS SOMEONE IN THE MUSEUM, EXPLODES A POLICE BOMB, AND DRAGS OUT LUCILLE, UNCONSCIOUS. SPENCER REVIVES HER AS THEY DRAG OUT EDOUARD--HER BROTHER!

YOU'RE BEGINNING TO UNDERSTAND NOW, AREN'T YOU, MR SPENCER?
I'M HANGED IF I DO! I CAN'T BELIEVE LUCILLE HAD ANY PART IN THIS ROBBERY!
COME ON, WALTER, SINCE YOU FLUNG OPEN THE WINDOWS AND CLEARED THE GAS, PERHAPS WE CAN FIND THE CLIMAX TO THIS STORY!
KENNEDY, TELL ME SHE DIDN'T DO ANYTHING WRONG! JUST SAY SO!
EDOUARD WHY DIDN'T YOU LISTEN TO ME?
COME CLEAN, YOUNG MAN! HAVE YOU DONE THIS THING TO GET YOUR SISTER IN WRONG—WITH ME?
EDOUARD -- TELL THE TRUTH ABOUT THE GREEN CURSE!
SUPPOSE YOU ALL COME INTO THE EGYPTIAN ALCOVE. I HAVE ANOTHER SURPRISE FOR YOU!

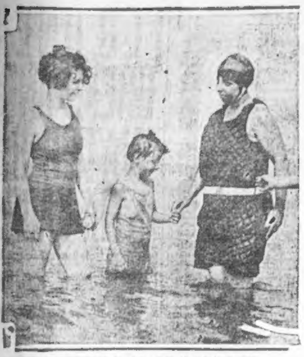
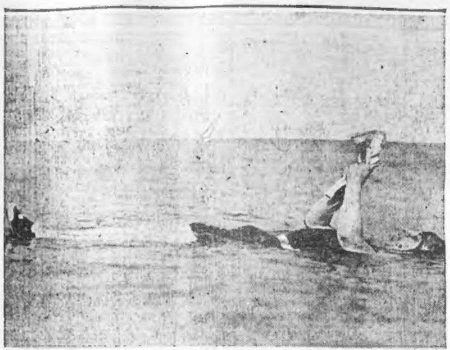
NANTASKET BATHERS ADMIRE ONLY NON-SINKABLE BATHING SUIT EVER SEEN AT SOUTH SHORE BEACH

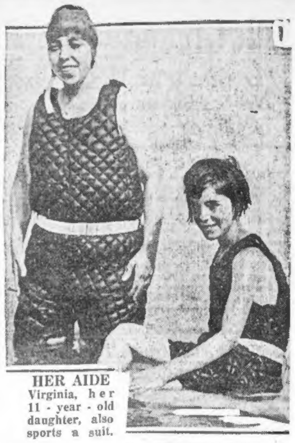


NEW SUIT BIDS TO BE POPULAR
Mary Kaplan (left) and Edna Delano, 8, snapped with Mrs. Charles H. Delano of Scotia, N. Y., who is wearing the non-sinkable bathing suit, invented by W. R. Christ of Detroit.

ENABLES THEM TO "SWIM" FOR MILES
The cloth in Mrs. Delano's suit is light and when it becomes wet supports a heavy body easily. The patent office experimented with it for 48 consecutive hours before giving a patent.



GIRLS, HOW IS THIS FOR COMFORT ON A "98" DAY?
Although Mrs. Delano cannot swim a stroke she tops the waves for miles in her non-sinkable suit. The idea came to Mr. Christ while travelling in South America. In the interior he saw natives using Japauquah or Kapock, a very light fibre, for a similar purpose.



HER AIDE
Virginia, her 11-year-old daughter, also sports a suit.

the girl periodically and the fires of their romance burned more and more intensely. Sometimes Jimmie went out to the Kellys in Winchester, and sometimes Edith obtained a few hours and used them in coming to Boston and meeting the boy from South Boston.

It was as a nurse-maid that Edith went into the employ of Mrs. Buckley. A very fine girl — Mrs. Buckley's words. "A girl who kept good hours during the eight months she was at Swampscott. A girl far better than most girls who are State wards.

"The only man who called on Edith during all the months was Jimmie Ford."

Edith's boy friend — Jimmie! Where she had no attachment for any one boy and had treated them all as one—now she had turned and was a one-boy girl.

Jimmie and Edith and love—in careless youth!

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American will appear the sixth instalment of the life story of Edith Louise Greene, "The Girl Who Never Had a Chance." The girl who lived and died for love. Watch for it! Read it! Perhaps some day you may have opportunity to help another "girl who never had a chance."

British Wigs and Gowns Voted on Irish Judges

Dublin, July 23 (I.N.S.).—The Irish senate today voted that Irish judges shall wear the traditional English model of wigs and gowns.

Senator William Yeats vainly implored the senate not to continue English traditions.

NINE CLAM DIGGERS ARRESTED IN LYNN

Nine clam diggers, arrested by Deputy Game Warden Thomas L. Birney while they were mining for the shellfish in the mud flats of Lynn harbor, near the outlet of the city sewer, were released on bail to appear today in Lynn court.

They will be charged with digging clams in contaminated waters. All the shores bordering Lynn harbor have been proscribed by the State board of health.

The men gave these names: Forest Roche, Clarence Smith, Kenneth Vail, George Ireson, Frank Morris, Charles Prout John Leary and Alexander Lavois.

old brother felt out their hiding place, clutched them firmly and led them back home again.

But this time they vow to love unto death, for even if they remain unmolested in their forest-fast hiding place they intend taking their lives at the end of a week of ecstacy.

Two days they have been gone now, while a quiet search has been going on. Panicky today, however, when expectations of easily finding the hiding place did not materialize, the hunters revealed the desperate situation and called for aid in the mad hunt.

Babes in the Woods—but not Babes afflicted merely with Summer madness, for Dave Coughlin and Nellie Piper have been "going together," have been kissing eagerly, have been arm in arm, for more than a year.

Repeatedly, according to the hunters, the girl's mother has refused Dave the house, but secret rendezvous have been kept all along, until finally, a week ago, the couple vanished.

Nellie left a note for her mother, saying they had eloped, but the more mature brother of Dave, the 24-year-old James Coughlin, tramped into the woods and found them ensconced in an old abandoned farmhouse on the Branch Pond road.

Sternly the brother rebuked David and his youthful sweetheart; just as sternly and as coolly the elder brother struck down a revolver levelled at him by the love-sick youth. And, contemptuously, the elder took from the girl a vial of chloroform she carried.

Then he herded the youthful lovers home.

For several days their ardor and their anger burned. Then, Wednesday afternoon, they fled again, leaving this time a note which said they would spend a week together in ecstacy—and then kill themselves, either by drowning, shooting or chloroform.

They headed immediately for Canada, but at the customs bridge over La Croix River, between Calais and St. Stephen, N. B., they were turned back by the uniformed men in whose breasts romance cooled long ago. Their admittance into Canada was refused because of their youth.

Then they rode back, through Calais to the woods, and the automobile they had hired from David Linehan in Calais was found abandoned in Whiting, on the outskirts of Machias.

BOSTONIANS WILL SAIL ON EUROPEAN TOURS

Several Bostonians are among the 550 tourist cabin passengers that leave New York tomorrow on the Atlantic Transport liner Minnekahda, bound for Boulogne and London.

Mr. and Mrs. DeKay Thompson are making the trip on a vacation tour as are the Misses Janice, Evelyn and Clare Thompson, Miss Florence Blackburn and Miss Margaret Stevens.

Ethel Hawes, general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, and Ralph Graves, associate editor of the National Geographic Magazine, are also sailing.

SHRINERS BAND TO PLAY AT HINGHAM CARNIVAL

The Aleppo Drum Corps, nationally known as the crack Shriners band, has volunteered to provide the musical concert at the annual charity carnival of the Guild Temple, No. 100, Pythian Sisters, on the Hingham centre Common on the afternoon and night of Wednesday, July 28.

Because of the distinction which the Hingham Pythian Sisters have attained through their superior charitable work, Director Louis Harlow agreed to take his band of more than 125 musicians to give the concert.

FORMER COURT CLERK GIVEN SIX MONTHS

Pittsfield, July 23 (A.P.).—Thomas F. Conlin of Pittsfield, former clerk in district court of Central Berkshire, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Judge Cox in Superior Court today for embezzlement of about $6,500 of county funds, while employed as clerk of court.

Conlin, who made restitution, pleaded guilty to the embezzlement charge.

NEW POINCARE CABINET

merce; M. Andrew Tardieu, minister of public works; Senator Perrior, minister of colonies; M. Queuille, minister of agriculture; Andre Fallieres, minister of labor.

The Cabinet list contained several surprises, the foremost of which was the inclusion of M. Herriot as minister of public instruction. This appointment, together with that of Senator Albert Sarraut, will probably offset the protest of the Radical-Socialist caucus against M. Poincare accepting the premiership.

M. Herriot and Senator Albert Sarraut will be counted upon to keep the Radical-Socialists in line.

"SACRED UNION."

The Cabinet, which is a "Union Sacree" (Sacred Union), is perhaps the strongest that France has had for some time, having in its ranks some of the most prominent leaders of the day, representing all of the major factions.

M. Poincare appears to have made a successful selection of a ministry, which he launches under rather more auspicious circumstances than recent ministries have been launched.

FRANC DROPS.

The opening quotation on the franc today showed a further drop from the closing figures of yesterday. The dollar was quoted at 44.62 francs and the pound sterling at 217. Yesterday's closing quotations were respectively 44 and 213.75.

The dollar was quoted at noon at 43.65 and the pound at 211.75.

Paris Riots Against U. S. Suspend Bus Service

Paris, July 23 (Universal).—Sightseeing autobus service was suspended when for the third evening in succession the autocars, threatening their American and English passengers.

One such incident occurred in the Grand Boulevard where an autobus was parked in front of a tourist agency, and another in Montmartre, where crowds hurled vile epithets and shouted:

"Carry on your sprees at home, not here."

The demonstrations apparently were spontaneous and without leadership, and came as a result of the bitter campaign by a number of Paris newspapers which have been violently attacking the tourists.

Hikes Mountain for Vote, Finds Non-Voter

Redding, Calif., July 23.—As a candidate for district attorney, A. F. Ross at least is energetic. He climbed a 9000-foot mountain in the interest of his candidacy, only to learn that the single resident there wouldn't leave his post to vote.

SMITH RITES IN DEDHAM TOMORROW

Dedham, July 23 (A.P.).—Funeral services for Huntington Smith, former editor and long associated with the Animal Rescue League, who died at a Belmont hospital at the age of sixty-seven, will be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow at Forest Hills cemetery chapel.

Mr. Smith was a native of Hudson, N. Y., and was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1878. He had been literary editor of the Boston Traveler, associate editor of the Literary World, and editor and owner of the Boston Beacon. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Anna Harris of Dorchester.

FIND DEAD MAN ON DUMP

The body of an unidentified man was found today on the Porter street dump between the General Electric Company and the Meade-Morrison Manufacturing Company, East Boston.

Joseph Bergdoll, watchman at the dump, found the body, as he was making his morning round. It had not been there half a dozen hours earlier.

Police were notified by the watchman and Medical Examiner Magrath on his arrival ordered the body moved to the North Grove Street Morgue.

Some of the East Boston officers declared they recognized the features as those of Luigi Carmosa of No. 10 Webster avenue, who was in East Boston Court last week, charged with non-support.

Two hours later Carmosa himself walked into the police station to deny the report he was dead.

When found the body was face downward in a pool of water a foot deep, but whether the man was dead before the rain or died by drowning after the pool was formed was not stated by the Medical Examiner.

WATCHMAN KILLED BY CHICKEN THIEVES

Greenville, O., July 23 (A.P.).—Simon Kenney, 45, a substitute watchman at a Greenville bank, was shot and killed and Police Officer Ora McClellan, 43, was wounded by two chicken thieves whom they encountered early today.

The officers arrested the two men as they were about to get away with an auto truck load of chickens in crates, when one of the suspects suddenly jerked free from Kenney and fired several shots. Kenney died before medical aid could be summoned.

57,376 TOURISTS SAIL FOR EUROPE, DESPITE RIOTS

Washington, July 23 (I.N.S.).—If Uncle Sam is hated in Europe as much as reported, then Americans must love their enemies!

For the migration of American vacationists and American dollars to Europe continues, only slightly affected by the disturbed conditions across the Atlantic and the riots in Paris.

Passport officials of the Department of State report that 57,376 Americans secured passports for foreign travel in May and June, only 978 less than for the same period last year, when a Rome pilgrimage lifted the total. July applications are reported normal.

Ninety per cent. of these tourists, officials estimate, will find their way into London restaurants and Paris shops.

Despite the British strike and anti-American outbreaks in France, the year's foreign tourist business is expected to equal that of last year.

UNION COUNCIL IN PLEA FOR 3 SLAYERS

Families of the three men sentenced to die for the murder of a watchman in the Waltham carbarn were cheered with news today that the United Building Trades' Council, representing 16,000 members, has voted to ask Governor Fuller to exercise executive clemency.

In making the announcement, Frank J. Manning, secretary of the clemency committee, said he was advised of such action by E. A. Johnson, secretary-treasurer of the Trades' Council.

"The letter advised that the delegates to the council voted to communicate with Governor Fuller that in their opinion the case merited executive clemency," he said.

"The leter said the council will hold a mass meeting in Faneuil Hall on August 1, at 3 o'clock, in the interests of the three accused. Representative leaders of both parties and prominent laymen will speak.

BUSMAN HURT IN SAVING 32

Fitchburg, July 23.—Heroically fighting to save his passengers from what seemed almost certain death, David Barnicle of Water street, brought his "theatre bus," loaded to its capacity of 32 persons, to a stop as it crashed into the fence at Main and River streets, on the bridge which spans the Nashua River.

For a time it seemed the sheer weight of the heavy bus would send it through the frail fence for a drop of 30 feet into the river. Barnicle, however, succeeded in stopping the heavy vehicle at the brink.

The bus, owned by the Fitchburg and Leominster Railway, was proceeding along Main street, a short distance in the rear of a street car operated by the same concern. The trolley pole of the street car slipped from the wire and the car was brought to an abrupt halt.

A heavy rain was falling and the streets were slippery. Barnicle applied brakes, and the bus started to skid slightly. He worked the heavy machine to the left of the street car, avoiding a crash, and the bridgerail loomed ahead.

It was at this time that the driver was compelled to bring every resource into play. He "jockeyed" the bus in such a way that it was halted without serious damage.

Barnicle, however, was cut about the hands and face when the machine hit the fence. He was removed to a hospital and held for treatment.

The bus is known as the "theatre bus," and is the last trip between the "playground district" and Fitchburg.

POINTS TO DANGER OF PRESS CENSORSHIP

Hickory, N. C., July 23 (A.P.).—Federal government censorship of the press will be established within ten years unless steps are taken to prevent it, in the opinion of Thomas Dixon, author and playwright.

"There is a growing demand for censorship of the press, and unless the forces now in motion toward the accomplishment of this purpose are met and destroyed, they will win," he told the members of the North Carolina Press Association here.

"Newspapers are the supreme expression of the orderly process of law against the voice of riot and personal violence," he added, "and a censored press is the first step in the establishment of tyranny."

COOL OUTING IS GIVEN TO 250 CAKE EMPLOYES

A cold water picnic for red hot weather. That was the novelty planned for the annual outing of the 250 employes of the Berwick Cake Company yesterday at Riverside. A tipsy tub race, swimming, canoe races and foot races were enjoyed.

The water did its cooling work for the whole company of frolickers, who then danced. The outing was under the leadership of W. A. Parks, president; George Cooper, vice-president, and L. W. Goulston, treasurer, of the company.

MOTHER COMES AFTER RUNAWAY DAUGHTER

Repentant and promising to behave in future, Elizabeth M. O'Connell, 16, of Irvington, N. Y., who eloped with an admirer in Cleveland, O., and was abandoned by him in Somerville, pleaded guilty in court of being a runaway girl. She was allowed to go home with her mother, Mrs. Gertrude O'Connell.

By order of Judge Sturtevant the charge against Miss O'Connell was filed with the understanding she live with her mother in Irvington, N. Y.

NEW YORK'S SUBWAY STRIKE IS ENDED

New York, July 23 (I.N.S.).—New York's subway strike, which began July 6, is ended.

The general committee of the striking motormen and switchmen voted to go back to work. The men were to ask for their old jobs this morning.

Strike leaders blamed their failure to win the strike on Mayor Walker. "Because of his failure to intervene." They also were disheartened by desertions from their ranks.

CALLS NOBILE 'NO MORE THAN CHAUFFEUR'

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

Rome, July 23.—The credit due General Umberto Nobile, captain and designer of the dirigible Norge, was no more than that due a good chauffeur, Raoul Amundsen, Arctic explorer, was quoted today as having said by S. Quattrini, an Italian reporter who accompanied the dirigible on its flight from Rome to King's Bay, Spitzbergen.

Amundsen, according to Quattrini, made the statement in conversation with the captain of the Norwegian warship Heimdal at King's Bay. The statement was overheard by a Norwegian sailor, who reported it indignantly to the quarters of the Italians.

Quattrini accused Amundsen generally of deliberately seeking to belittle Nobile's contribution to the Polar flight.

FLAGG HERO BUT RESCUE FAILS

Biddeford Pool, Me., July 23 (A.P.) —James Montgomery Flagg, the artist, was hailed as a hero here today for his attempt to save Isaac Cook, wealthy St. Louis real estate man, from drowning in a severe storm last night.

Mr. Cook met death in the ocean when he tried to recover a canoe, the property of one of his sons, as the boat started seaward lashed by a heavy gale which had just broken.

Cook ran from his cottage and plunged into the water fully clothed. Flagg, whose Summer home adjoins that of Mr. Cook, saw his neighbor struggling in the waves and dashed to his assistance.

He succeeded in bringing him from the water and a call was sent to a nearby life saving station, but a physician who had been summoned found the St. Louis man dead. A heart attack while in the water had caused death, he said.

Mr. Cook, who was sixty, had made his home here for twenty-five years. His wife and three children were at the cottage at the time of the accident.

MULHERN OF DORCHESTER IS OUT FOR THE SENATE

Representative Joseph J. Mulhern of Dorchester has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Senator from the Seventh Suffolk District, comprising Wards 13, 15 and 16.

"I can assure the Democratic voters of the district that I will serve them in the Senate with the same reliability and integrity that characterized my service in the House of Representatives," Mulhern said.

Representative Mulhern is a member of the Robert Fulton Council, K. of C., the Boston Lodge of Elks, and various civic organizations and is president of the Bentley School Alumni Association. He is married and lives with his family at 82 Hancock Street, Dorchester.

RAID RELIGIOUS OFFICE IN MEXICO CITY

Mexico City, July 23 (A.P.).—The police have closed the offices of the National League for Defense of Religious Liberty, which recently is alleged to have been carrying out propaganda against the new religious law. About twenty-five persons found in the offices were arrested, including officers and the executive committee of the league.

Later all those arrested were released except three of the league's leaders, Rafael Ceniceros Villareal, Rene Capistran Garza and Luis Busto, who are alleged to have signed a recent appeal for an "economic boycott."

WIDESPREAD RAIDS IN GALVESTON CONTINUE

Galveston, Tex.,—July 23 (I.N.S.). —Galveston was virtually trembling in its shoes early today as federal prohibition agents continued raids which started twenty-four hours ago and showed no signs of letting up after taking seventy-five persons in custody and closing more than fifty open saloons, breweries and whiskey distilleries. More than forty fashionable houses have been raided.

Leading citizens, owners of the property raided, cringed at the prospects of their rent houses being padlocked for a year by Uncle Sam. Many city officials and members of the police force were caught in the numerous raids.

Rare Jewels Stolen From U.S. Museum

Washington, July 23.—Police are combing this and other cities for a dozen rare antique oriental jewels stolen from the National Museum. The gems were removed from their glass case after the lock had been picked.

SEEK 'LADY BOB' IN RUM PROBE

San Francisco, July 23 (A.P.).—While high prohibition officials in Washington stood behind Colonel Ned M. Green, prohibition administrator for Northern California and Nevada, government agencies here today continued the action started three days ago which will result in several charges of a criminal nature being brought against Colonel Green before the Federal Grand Jury next week.

The United States marshal's office is trying to locate Mrs. Aubrey (Lady Bob) Montgomery, a wealthy widow who lived at the same hotel as Colonel Green, and who was described as a lavish entertainer. Federal officers said that her testimony relative to parties held at the hotel is wanted.

Colonel Green will be charged with having protected bootleggers; fitting up official speedboat Lady Lou to entertain friends on board; diverting seized liquors to a physician friend and receiving prescriptions from him; engaging in drunken brawls; making raids to secure liquor for his parties, and ordering certain search warrants destroyed.

Colonel Green brands the charges a frameup.

HOWARD NOW OUT OF JAIL

Mexico City, July 23 (I.N.S.).—John Franklin Howard of Haverhill, Mass., millionaire retired manufacturer, has been released from jail in Cuernavaca, where he was held pending charges of having received a fraudulent divorce.

The judge of the Fifth Federal District in Mexico City issued a court order calling for the removal of Howard from the penal court at Cuernavaca to the jurisdiction of his own court.

The Cuernavaca court honored the order and released Howard, after he had posted bail.

Howard arrived in Mexico City under the escort of four soldiers, furnished as a guard by General Beltran, who declared that he feared Howard might be attacked by his sons.

Albert and John Howard, sons of the ex-manufacturer, who are leading the fight against their father in an effort to obtain a financial settlement for their mother, declared that physical attacks upon their father were farthest from their thoughts.

The elder Howard announced today that "all bets are off" on the tentative agreement for a settlement with his wife in Haverhill, which he seriously considered while in jail in Cuernavaca.

BOOTH TARKINGTON'S MOTOR BOAT AFIRE

Kennebunkport, Me., July 23.—Lashed by a gale, the motorboat Santu owned by Booth Tarkington, the author, caught fire and was swept to sea.

Tarkington was slightly burned in fighting the fire.

The boat was 10 miles off shore when the storm broke and drove her farther to the east.

Other boatmen rushed to the rescue and the author and his two guests were taken off.

The Santu was taken in tow.

Tarkington's companions in peril were Harry Thirkell of Kennebunkport and a Miss Trotter of Philadelphia.

PATROLMAN HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Lowell, July 23.—Patrolman Oscar C. Becht of Lowell was arraigned today in local District Court before Judge Thomas J. Enwright, charged with manslaughter, operating so as to endanger the lives of others and operating under the influence of liquor.

The charges grew out of the death of Merton L. Rodger, twenty-three-year-old art student, on June 18, when he was struck by an automobile on Mammoth road, Dracut.

On the suggestion of Assistant District Attorney Ralph M. Stearns, Judge Enright declined jurisdiction, and the case will be presented to the Grand Jury that sits in Lowell September 2.

TWO GIRL SWIMMERS DROWN IN RIVER

Trenton N. J., July 23 (A.P.).—Theresa Kele, seventeen, and Anna Bolbizar, sixteen, both of Roebling, were drowned in the Delaware River at Florence Heights. Their bodies have not been recovered.

There were a number of bathers in the vicinity when the girls stepped from a ledge into 20 feet of water, but neither came to the surface. Earl Kerr and Raymond Carter, also of Roebling, who were swimming nearby, immediately dived, but could find no trace of the victims.

Three Children Die in Fire

J. P. Collins Choice of Piano Buyers In Boston

Other Candidates Still In Doubt

Last week I spoke about dining at Jim Purcell's New Bass Point House down in good old Nahant, the coolest spot on the North Shore, and this summer, by-the-way, it is the mecca of the leading politicians of both Republican and Democratic parties. Their discussions interested me, even in this hot weather. They're a smart lot these politicians—Just now, the results of the primary election the second week in September is what they are stewing about —Here are a few hot weather political conversations:

"It looks as though the Republicans would go to the bat with Governor Fuller and Senator Butler as their principal candidates."

"Governor Fuller is serving now as the choice of the voters. Senator Butler is serving as the choice of the former Governor Cox, who appointed him to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the lamented Senator Lodge."

"David I. Walsh will undoubtedly be the candidate of the Democratic party for United States Senator. Without Senator Walsh there would be no Democratic party in Massachusetts. Not within the memory of the present generation, at least, has a public official won the confidence and respect of men and women of all shades of political belief to the extent that Senator Walsh enjoys it. They admire his sterling honesty as a public official; his high character as a private citizen; they know he can be depended upon to fight for the rights of the average, everyday individual, the one not able to protect himself."

"It looks as though the Democratic party this year will have the good sense to provide Senator Walsh with a running mate who is worthy of him. Colonel Gaston, General Cole, Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, Ex-Mayor Peters or Mr. Ely would admirably fill the bill."

"Some of the voters are going to be troubled about a selection between the various candidates. They will hesitate as to whether to pick the man or the party. Political parties are coming to mean less and less to the voters and individuals more and more. Look at Senator Borah, admired by men of all parties, like our own Senator Walsh. This is as it should be. Yet it is hard for some to see beyond a party label."

Men and women differ in politics, they differ as to candidates, but people who know piano values never hesitate. They automatically take the path to 100 Summer Street when they want a new or used piano.

J. P. Collins was long ago elected as the unanimous choice of piano buyers who know value. This is why he is today the biggest individual dealer in new and used pianos in New England.

CHILDREN HURT 2 MEN SOUGHT

Two West End children groan on beds of pain at the Massachusetts General Hospital today, and the police of the Joy street division seek two men, but for different reasons.

One is a milk-man and a hero—a modest hero. The other is a taxi-driver, say the police.

Alexandra Tuboff, two and one-half years old, left her home at No. 139 Chambers street, carrying with her a box of matches. Her dress became ignited, and in an instant the little girl was a sheet of flame on the all but deserted street.

The milkman saw her, took her in his arms and ran to his wagon, where he wrapped a horse blanket about the flaming body. He saved the child's life, for she will recover, though painfully burned.

The milkman turned his charge over to a policeman, who was too anxious to get the child to the hospital to spend the time getting the identity of the man who saved her.

The other is no such heroic epic. James Roscoe, five, was struck down by a taxicab in front of his home at No. 232 Cambridge street and the driver continued on his way, leaving his tiny victim in the street. James, too, will recover, while the police seek the driver.

Storm Sweeps Coast

Triest, Italy, July 23 (A.P.).—A storm of hurricane force, accompanied by a fall of large hailstones, swept the Northern Adriatic coast today, endangering shipping and destroying crops.

TITLED DEBS AT CABARET

London, July 23.—It was left to an American hostess, Mrs. Jimmy Carrigan, to give the final galvanic kick to London's waning social season by her original cabaret party at her sumptuous town residence, No. 16 Gosvenor square. It was the jazziest affair of years.

The whole of London's exclusive younger set, the greater part of the American colony and many of the elite transients were crowded into the Adams ballroom de luxe. Here Mrs. Carrigan had mobilized the most aristocratic bill of amateur talent that ever graced a London entertainment.

Names that usually appeared only in DeBrett's were printed on cheap broadsheet paper after the fashion of circus hand-bills of the old days.

Titles were ignored and nicknames were used with a familiarity which breathed anything but contempt. For instance, when the dignified Earl of Brecknock appeared in the first item on the program, "Bicycles for Two," he was billed as "Brecky," and Viscount Weymouth, who teamed with him, was programmed as "Harry Weymouth."

DAUGHTER OF BESSIE CLAYTON WEDS ACTOR

New York, July 22.—Roger Pryor, 24, actor and son of Arthur Pryor, bandmaster, was married at City Hall to Priscilla J. Mitchell, daughter of the late Julian Mitchell, stage director, and of Bessie Clayton, dancer.

BACK BROKEN IN TOSS FROM CAB

Nearly unconscious from pain, Miss Jeannette M. Duchesne, 20, dragged herself a quarter of a mile through Lynn streets early today with a broken spine, and collapsed in the yard at the rear of her home.

According to her story to police, four hours later, she was hurled from a taxicab in Central square, Lynn, by a man. She is in Lynn Hospital and may die.

Jeannette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Duchesne of No. 106 Lawton avenue, Lynn, was found unconscious in the yard by her brother George.

To Patrolman Joseph Coyne, she said, later, that she had been in the company of Thomas Sullivan, fiftp-five, at 11 p. m. cmfw hr hrh fifty-five. At 11 p. m. she took a taxi home.

In Central square, she said, a young man forced his way into the cab. When she punched him in the face, he hurled her from the cab, which kept on going.

Sullivan said he escorted her home at 10:30.

Confronted with Sullivan's statement, the girl admitted her first story was wrong. She had gone home with Sullivan and after he left her, she took a taxi back through the centre of Lynn, she said, picking up a young man in the square.

When she resented his attentions he threw her out the cab door, Jeanette said.

110 BOOKED FROM HUB ON WINIFREDIAN

With 110 passengers booking from this port, the Leyland line steamer Winifredian will sail at noon tomorrow from Pier 4, East Boston, bound for Liverpool.

Probably the oldest passenger aboard will be Mrs. M. W. Bean of Natick, past her eightieth birthday and making her annual trip across.

Captain Arthur F. Wingfield, retired sea captain of Rockland, Me., is sailing and will make a general tour of Europe.

Among the Bostonians sailing are Dr. George Dwyer of Huntington avenue, Mrs. Lillian M. Buck, Mrs. E. M. Delano, Mrs. Alice Frawley, Mary Hayes, Thomas W. Gilmour, Marion F. Herculson, Jonathan Higginbotham, Mr. and Mrs. James Keddie and their son, James, Jr., Honora M. Kelleher, Mr. and Mrs. John McGowan, Dr. J. E. Oslin, W. T. Shaver, John R. Stephenson, Mrs. Mary F. Whitelaw and the Misses Mary and Margaret Whyte.

FOSTER EDWARDS, STAR ATHLETE, SECRETLY WED

Unwilling to wait and fulfill plans made by their parents for their wedding, Foster Edwards, leading pitcher of the Eastern league, playing with the Providence team, and Miss Madeline Arnold Stevens of Watertown, eloped and were secretly married at Atlantic.

The young couple met at the Dartmouth Winter carnival in 1924, when Mr. Edwards was a stellar athlete for the Hanover, N. H., institution.

Mrs. Edwards is the daughter of Professor Calvin C. Stevens of the Hawley School of Engineering, and is a graduate of the Choate School in Brookline.

SUES CORLISS PALMER ON $200,000 JUDGMENT

Los Angeles, Calif., July 23.—Suit to enforce a $200,000 judgment she obtained in the New York courts last March against Corliss Palmer, motion picture actress, for alleged theft of the affections of Eugene Brewster, wealth publisher, has been filed here by Mrs. Eleanor V. Brewster, wife of the publisher.

URGE JAIL FOR AUTO THEFTS

(By Associated Press.)

Maximum sentences for automobile thieves are urged by the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston, which today made public statistics indicating 250,000 cars valued at $218,000,000 were stolen in the United States last year.

It was estimated four out of five stolen cars were recovered, reducing the owners' loss to $35,000,000, or, taking into account stolen accessories, robes and other items, $50,000,000.

SEE FIREBUG'S HAND IN LYNN

A fire that alarmed patients at Lynn Hospital in the early hours until they were quieted and assured by nurses, was ordered investigated today by Fire Chief Edward E. Chase of Lynn.

Chief Chase charged that sufficient evidence of incendiarism had been found by his men to warrant a probe.

The fire, which caused $3,030 damage in the block numbered 191 to 205 Franklin street, was less than 100 yards from the hospital, but the institution was never in danger.

Miss Vera Allen, superintendent of nurses, ordered her girls to circulate among the patients and assure them of their safety.

CHURCH OPENS JUBILEE WEEK TOMORROW

Featuring a Charleston contest every evening and many sensational novelties, the first annual Jubilee under the auspices of the Mt. Carmel Catholic Church of East Boston, will open tomorrow night on the new Donald McKay school grounds, Cottage and Frankfort streets, and continue for one week.

A committee headed by Henry Selvitella has arranged for a large midway and miniature circus with the usual attractions of fire eaters, snake charmers and trained fleas among the sidelines.

U. S. Camera Man Fined

Nagasaki, Japan, July 23 (A.P.).—Louis Vogelweid, clerk in the American consulate, was fined 150 yen (about $75) for taking photographs in a fortified zone. Vogelweid was arrested at Sasebo naval base early last month.

WOMAN DOCTOR IN GIRL'S DEATH

Providence, July 23.—Emelda Bourqui, 17-year-old Mossup, Ct., girl, died at St. Joseph's Hospital, and police declared today that she died from illegal surgery performed by a woman.

Search for the woman surgeon and accomplices has begun, with Providence detectives co-operating with the local police at Moosup and with Connecticut State police.

The girl, sent here to St. Joseph's by a Central Village, Ct., doctor, died from septic peritonitis following illegal surgery, according to Medical Examiner Griffin.

Police Inspectors Godfrey and Rogers have gone to Moosup to check up on the girl and her friends. A woman has admitted having brought Emelda to Providence.

The girl was sent to Providence after her family, alarmed at her condition, had called a physician.

She was in a dying condition when she arrived at St. Joseph's, but no official will say whether she made a statement before her life ended.

TEN KILLED AS BUS OVERTURNS

Nyack, N. Y., July 23 (A.P.).—Ten women and children out of 48 who sought to escape the heat of New York city in a bus excursion are dead today and the driver of the bus which overturned was held in the New City, N. Y., jail.

Three others of the passengers were on the danger list at the Nyack Hospital, and all the rest were injured.

The passengers were returning to their homes in Brooklyn after spending the day in Bear Mountain Park.

Witnesses said the bus, driven by Daniel J. Lastro, was not speeding prior to the accident. The machine bumped over the Erie Railroad crossing in the heart of Sparkill, N. Y., and fifteen feet east of the crossing suddenly swerved to the right, then started rolling down a slight incline.

Witnesses said they saw Lastro working frantically with his levers and heard the frightened screams of the women and children as the machine gathered momentum. The brakes refused to hold and when the machine reached the bottom of the hill, and crashed against a store window, it rolled over.

'Sets Up' Names of Loved Ones in Death List

Nyack, N. Y., July 23.—John Reiper, a linotype operator, employed by the New York American, identified his wife and daughter, who were killed in a bus accident here.

He was "setting up" the story of the accident for his paper when he saw their names in the first death list and left for the scene of the accident as soon as possible.

FOX CANDIDATE FOR HOUSE

A new candidate for public honors is Isidore H. Fox, lawyer, who seeks election to the House as representative from Ward 14.

Fox has been long an active Republican, a member of the Republican ward committee. He is an advocate of organized labor as he worked himself out of the "sweat shops" and into his law business by hard study after hours. He is now a member of the law firm of Lewis, Fox, and Andrews. He is a graduate of Boston University Law School.

Besides holding membership in many Jewish societies, he is one of the prime movers in the new Dorchester and Mattapan Hebrew School project.

During the World War he served as a member of the Legal Advisory Board.

400 HUB SCOTS SAIL SUNDAY

The Boston Caledonian Club pipe band, under the leadership of Past Chief David Lees, will appear at the Cunard dock, East Boston, Sunday, in conjunction with the sailing of 1000 Scotsmen and Scottish-Americans on the Anchor line steamer Transylvania for Glasgow on their annual excursion conducted by the Order of Scottish Clans.

The liner sails from New York to this port tomorrow, bringing 600 passengers to be joined by 400 from Boston and New England.

Royal Chief Duncan MacInnis of the Royal Clan of the order, is prominent among those sailing. The Boston party will include Thomas Grieve, past chief of Clan Ramsey, president of the Scots Charitable Society, president of the Lilwining Club and president of the Boston Soccer Club.

Two other liners are due at the dock at the same time, the Cunarder Laconia sailing for Queenstown and Liverpool with several hundred passengers, and the Anchor liner Caledonia arriving from Glasgow and Londonderry with over 100 passengers for this port.

such a "cross." Scientists call it a "kio-nag-er," and it is the beginning and end of its dynasty. Being a mule, it can never have children.

To such mixtures nature sets a limit, "Thus far shalt thou go, and no farther."

OUR ANCESTORS believed in all sorts of "crosses," half animal, half man, but we know better. The minotaur, living on the island of Crete, devouring youths and virgins sent from Greece as a tribute, was believed to have a human mother, Pasiphae, sister of Circe, and for father a bull, sent by Neptune.

Theseus, according to legend, killed the minotaur. Science has killed that nonsense. Nature keeps separate her many strange species of animals.

ALL THE WORLD is watching France and the franc. American travelers are insulted on the streets of Paris, and British newspapers cry "Shame on America," and on "Uncle Shylock," because America requests part payments of its debt.

These hostilities will not last, and perhaps they will teach the United States, when the next European war begins, to follow Japan's example, take what it wants in its own neighborhood, and keep its men and its money at home. You will never be liked by those that owe you money, especially if they can't, or don't want to pay.

ITALY'S pacifist government believes it isn't the French people or the French government that has failed, but the parliamentary system of government. Mussolini looks upon Parliament as a harmful interference with the will and the usefulness of one strong man.

Many expect the strong man to appear in France. He has appeared there often, in Napoleon's day for instance, but didn't make conditions much better.

A REAL MAN died yesterday at the age of eighty-nine, W. A. Roebling, who built the Brooklyn Bridge.

This good American, of German ancestry, fought in the Civil War, and, succeeding his father, John A. Roebling, became one of the great and useful builders of the United States.

Our stupid immigration laws prevent such men from coming to this country now, to organize industry and give employment to thousands. We need them.

BEVERIDGE, of Indiana, says President Coolidge will be nominated by acclamation in 1928, elected overwhelmingly. Very likely, but that has nothing to do with re-electing Senators who voted to push this country into the World Court.

France, Britain and their associate governments would outvote the United States in that court 10 to 1. And their favorite name for this country is "Uncle Shylock."

WOULD THE PRESIDENT submit his own affairs to the judgment of a foreign court, just now? Better stay home, depend on our own courts, and incidentally build flying machines and submarines to keep away unwelcome visitors. We shall have such visitors if we remain unprepared. The world hates us.

PARIS DIVORCE FOR MRS. TALBOT HAMLIN

Paris, July 23.—The Seine Tribunal today granted a divorce to Mrs. Talbot Hamlin, formerly Miss Hilda B. Edwards. The Hamlins are well known in New York social circles. Hamlin is a graduate of Amherst.

Mrs. Ray Schaffer Frankel has applied for a divorce from Dr. Bernard Frankel. The Frankels were married in New York in 1912 and have one child. Mrs. Frankel charges desertion.

CONVICTS GET THEIR BOOZE BY WHISTLING

Chicago, July 23 (A.P.).—So close to Cook County jail was the bootleg establishment raided by police last night that thirsty prisoners could whistle their orders—one signal for beer and two for whiskey.

The frequent trips of guards to fill the orders disclosed the quarters, authorities said after making arrests and liquor seizures which they declared would at least curtail bootleg service to criminals in the county prison.

The whistling, police said in explaining the presence of two hot water bags filled with moonshine, would dispatch a messenger with the rubber containers concealed beneath his coat. Once in the jail, the officers said, the intoxicants would be delivered by means of rubber tubing through the bars.

Denis Gallagher and his wife were arrested as operators of the dispensary. Both denied they had dealings with any of the jail guards, but States attorneys's aides said the establishment had been located by observing the movements of guards, particularly Elmer Moore.

Moore, a jail guard until dismissal last week, was sentenced yesterday to sixty days in jail for contempt of court at an inquiry into smuggling of liquor to prisoners. The investigation was ordered after Moore and Frank McErlane, gunman prisoner, whom Moore was guarding, appeared in court apparently intoxicated.

PASTOR-SLAYER SEES 'FRAMEUP'

Fort Worth, Tex., July 23 (I.N.S.). The Rev. J. Frank Norris, Baptist revivalist, who shot and killed D. E. Chipps, today, in the Searchlight, a publication which he edits, repeated the charge that his enemies are attempting to "frame him."

In an editorial which has a two-column position on the first page, Norris resumes his attack on the Tarrant county grand jury which he challenged several days ago as "hand-picked."

The editorial charges that a group of persons at a clandestine meeting subscribed funds for the private counsel which had been retained by Mrs. Chipps as special prosecutors.

BLOOMBERG & SONS OPEN BASEMENT STORE

A bargain basement in a retail shoe store with costs so eliminated that values are always at a maximum is the idea of Bloomberg & Sons in opening a new basement retail shop beneath their present store at 572 Washington street. The new bargain basement is spacious and the management intends a flow of merchandise through it that will insure an unusual opportunity to purchase footwear at advantageous prices.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Yachting Season Now in Full Swing

MRS. LARZ ANDERSON
Prominent Boston author, philanthropist and society woman, staying at "Weld" for part of the Summer.

SALT LADEN BREEZES BLEW across the spacious porches of the Eastern Yacht Club and made the weekly rendezvous for dinner and dancing at that Marblehead social centre a most enjoyable affair.

MEMBERS AND THEIR guests have all the wonderful lively panorama of busy Marblehead spread out before them, and never have so many craft, of all sorts and sizes, been riding at anchor in the rockbound harbor.

YACHTING HAS COME BACK into its large pre-war popularity, and each day in Marblehead seems to be a race day, what with the crowded schedules of the Eastern, the Corinthian and the Pleon clubs.

BUT OF THE DINNER DANCE —Bowdoin B. Crowninshield was host for a small group. Messrs. Arthur Crosby, Herman Parker and Frank J. Fahey entertained, the last two named for a large group of twenty and the first two for smaller companies.

GEORGE UPTON'S TABLE was for seven, and John F. Hussey entertained a cosy group of four. Dr. Franklin W. White had reservations for a small party. And, of course, there was much informal dropping in by Marblehead's Summer contingent, from Peach's Point, from the Town itself, and from the Neck.

TENNIS AT THE TEDESCO Club tomorrow carries on the sports round of the week. This tourney is open, the seventh for the North Shore championship. Miss Emily Evatt of Brookline and Little's Point, Swampscott, is a pretty feminine player starting in the women's matches.

MISS MOLLY WALCOTT is another youthful aspirant for feminine tennis laurels; likewise Miss Nancy Jaynes, Miss Caroline Comstock, Miss Priscilla Crosby, Miss Sarah Brooks, Miss Marjorie Borrill, Miss Elinor Holton, Miss Betty Fitzpatrick and Miss Annette Conklin.

SINGLES AND DOUBLES are on the morning program at Tedesco and some pretty play is anticipated, for all the girls are well known performers on the courts that flourish along the North Shore in Summertime.

AS TO THE MEN'S PLAY (matches starting also on Saturday morning), Graydon Upton, Donald Martin, Neal Boyd, Harry Taylor, Robert Warner and others of that ilk are due to appear. And so the tennis centre switches from Longwood and its paramount interests to Tedesco.

MRS. CLARENCE RANDOM EDWARDS is rejoicing in a new gift to her pet philanthropic hobby, the Disabled Ex-Service Men's Exchange. It is a Beverly truck, given the Exchange by its Director of Transport, Mrs. Charles Royce Butler.

THE EXCHANGE and its thriving business is a fine example of constructive philanthropy, and each season rejoices the hearts of its founders and backers by increasing prosperity. Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Timothee Adamowski, Mrs. Edward Mauran Beals (mother of Mrs. John Howard Fay, formerly Madeleine Beals) are some of the leaders.

SUMMERTIME VISITORS to the Museum of Fine Arts find much to admire that is newly acquired by the Museum, and of the gifts none receives more attention than a painting by the late Thomas Allan recently presented by Mrs. Allan.

WIDELY KNOWN in the art world was the late artist, and the painting is a splendid acquisition, done in the well known Allan style. It is of "Wallabrook Ford, Dartmoor," in England, a pastoral of horses at pasture on the moors. Mr. Allan was at one time president of the Museum.

GUESTS FOR THE SEASON at Stoneleigh Manor, Rye Beach's beautifully appointed and luxurious Summer hostelry, include Mrs. Henry W. Estabrook of Commonwealth avenue. Miss Clara Hall, of Springfield, is a guest at the Farragut, the Manor's near neighbor, and always holding high place in New Englanders' regard.

VISITORS AT Wentworth-by-the-Sea include a number of Bostonians. Thomas Best and Thomas Best, Jr., are at the Newcastle hotel; also George Burgess, John Shaw and Eliot Boardman. John B. Hutchinson of Cambridge is at the Hotel Chatham, New York.

September 27 has been tentatively set as the day for the celebration. Military, naval and civic authorities are co-operating with the main committee so that reduced train fares will be possible.

SERGEANT CRATTY AND WIFE 35 YEARS WED

Police Sergeant James J. Cratty, attached to the harbor division, and his wife are celebrating today the thirty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. They will entertain their friends and relatives at No. 136 Kittredge street, Roslindale.

Today is also the sixty-first birthday anniversary of Sergeant Cratty, who is widely known in Roslindale. He is extremely popular in police department circles and enjoys a large acquaintance along the waterfront.

JAPANESE INSISTS HE STRANGLED SWEETHEART

New York, July 23 (A.P.).—Kogurro, a Japanese, was in jail here today because he insists that he strangled his sweetheart, Adelheid Brunjes, recently of Germany, for reckless spending of money he had given her to save for their wedding in the near future.

The German girl came to America two years ago and met the Japanese while both were working as servants. For a month they had been living together in a furnished room.

Police went to the furnished room and found the girl's body stretched on a couch, clad only in stockings and a kimona.

STOREKEEPER PROBED IN DEATH OF WIFE

Waterloo, N. Y., July 23 (I.N.S.).—Daniel Clark, storekeeper of Geneva, faces an official inquiry today into the death of his wife, whose body he brought into town yesterday propped up in the rear seat of his automobile.

Clark said his wife, whose death was due to a fractured skull, had fallen from the car, but a party of tourists had notified police before Clark's arrival that he was beating the woman as they passed him on the road.

COAST GUARDS IN LIQUOR LIAISON

Asbury Park, N. J., July 23 (A.P.).—Co-operation on a wholesale scale between Coast Guards and rum runners has been disclosed by confessions obtained from men and officers of stations in the vicinity of Barnegat Bay.

Captain M. W. Rasmussen, superintendent of the Fifth Coast Guard District, has announced that ten guardsmen have been placed under arrest and more than that number suspended, but it is believed that many more have been dropped pending further investigation.

WHOLE PERSONNEL INVOLVED

In one instance, eighteen men, the entire personnel of a station, when faced with the confession of their commanding officer, asserted that the question of co-operation with rum-runners had been put to a vote and that they unanimously decided to participate.

One member of this station was a youth of twenty, who formed a close friendship with Rasmussen while guiding him on hunting trips.

WIFE GO-BETWEEN.

One station commander admitted that his wife had acted as a go-between, telephoning agents of the rum-runners and informing them at what time and where they could bring in liquor.

Protest Burning of Baltimore's Cricket Pests

Baltimore, July 23.—The city having just succeeded in squelching thousands of crickets which infested a residential section—the swarm was oil-soaked, burned and buried—Mayor Howard W. Jackson received a protest against "the cruelty of killing those insects that Charles Dickens immortalized in 'The Cricket on the Hearth.' "

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN'S OUTING AUGUST 14

A great crowd of men and women high in the State's Democratic ranks will attend the third annual outing of the Women's Democratic Club of Massachusetts, Inc., to be held at Pemberton Inn August 14, the day after withdrawals. An associate membership committee has been inaugurated under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mae Donovan of Dorchester.

HOVEY FORCES TO FROLIC

The C. F. Hovey Associates, numbering 900, will hold their annual outing and frolic tomorrow at Fieldston-on-the-Atlantic. The trip to the beach is to be made in buses, decorated with streamers, signs and balloons, with each of the 900 equipped with some sort of a noise-maker.

Adolph Erhlich, president of the C. F. Hovey Company, is largely responsible for the annual outing, backing it financially.

Entertaining activities are scheduled for every minute of the day, including bathing, dancing, luncheon and sports.

The sports include 100 yard dash for men, in charge of Roy Hall, auditing office; 50 yard dash for girls, Will Brown, advertising; fat man's race, Will Brown; potato race for girls, Alan Wilkie, buyer; three-legged race for men, Joseph Shay, floor superintendent; three-legged race for girls, Mrs. Nellie Wallace, buyer; Gretna Green race for men, Louis Ehrlich, assistant buyer; sack race for men, Henry Coyme, buyer; tug-of-war for girls, Alan Wilkie; tug-of-war for men, Henry Coyne; tennis tournament, Sarah Cooperstein, training department; Charleston contest, Marion Golden, buyer; bathing beauty contest, James Maxwell, floor superintendent.

A. Snyder, executive office, planned the outing as chairman of the committee. Will Brown, advertising manager, edited a special edition of the store paper for the occasion as a part of the picnic publicity throughout the store.

Strike of Housewives Narrowly Averted

Reddened, roughened hands, due to cooking and dishwashing, and no way to keep them smooth and lovely except by dropping tools, was the reason. But Velouderma (Velvet Skin) saved the day! By applying it directly after housework is done, also in the morning and again just before bed, women discovered that their hands could be kept soft and velvety no matter how much work must be done. Velouderma is truly marvelous for sunburn, for after motoring, as a powder base and to relieve the chafing of infants. 25c a tube. On Sale at all Department and good Drug Stores. MURDER MADE EASY BY GERM SUPPLIES

Pathologist Warns of Nation's Greatest Peril; Demands Drastic Action

Washington, July 23.—America's politest, coldest, surest method of murder—one that virtually is impossible of detection—was described today by Dr. Thomas Cajigas, pathologist at George Washington University.

Hundreds of person who die annually of typhoid fever, tuberculosis and other meladies are coldly murdered by calculating slayers, who systematically administer disease germs to them through food and drink, according to Dr. Cajigas.

Every month Dr. Cajigas handles sufficient bacilli of diseases ranging from Asiatic cholera to an ordinary "bad cold" to wipe out the population of the United States over night.

EASY TO GET SUPPLY.

Years of study of disease germs led Dr. Cajigas to advocate enactment of legislation which would regulate the sale and distribution of bacilli.

"Deadly germs of typhoid and diphtheria certainly should be made as difficult to obtain as habit-forming drugs," Dr. Cajigas declared.

In many government laboratories, medical schools and other institutions all over the country engaged in thes tudy of disease, supplies of germs are maintained. They may be obtained from these agencies with comparative ease, Cajigas declared.

"Germs may be secured in tubes and are perfectly safe for an experienced man to handle. The disease 'bugs' multiply rapidly. For instance, within twenty-four hours one singlet typhoid germ would multiply by the millions," he said.

Dr. Cajigas explained that the administration of germs to intended victims of a murderer is a simple matter, not requiring a knowledge of medicine.

PUBLIC IN IGNORANCE.

"Because of the apparently natural form of death produced by this terrible form of murder, few cases have ever been brought to the attention of the authorities," Cajigas continued.

"Even the victim himself is without knowledge of the reason for his illness."

Thousands of medical students have access to disease germs. Cajigas declared that there are literally billions of typhoid, tuberculosis and other bacilli in the possession of these students—germs sufficient to fill a Pandora Box, the opening of whose lid might mow down the populations of nations.

KILLED IN 12-STORY FALL AT ASYLUM

Philadelphia, July 23 (A.P.).—Charles E. lowers, Durham, N. C., a patent at Jefferson Hospital, fell or leaped from a twelfth-story window of the institution and was killed. He had been suffering from a nervous breakdown. He was a traveling representative for a large business house in the South.

N. E. Aiding Drive to Purge History of Racial Hate

By Associated Press.

Committees are being formed in each New England State to cooperate with the American Historical Association in its campaign to "promote American history and history teaching in America."

It is purposed to prepare the way for co-ordinated teaching of history in the schools, and to free the subject from racial prejudice and propaganda. An additional endowment of $1,000,000 is sought for this work.

Professor Theodore Collier of Brown University is secretary of the Rhode Island organization, and Professor Charles M. Andrews of Yale is aiding the Connecticut committee.

MELLON JUST WANTS REST

Cherbourg, France, July 23 (A.P.).—Andrew W. Mellon desires, while on vacation, to forget that he is a financier.

Mr. Mellon so informed newspapermen as he came ashore from the steamer Majestic.

"I wish to forget that I am a financier," he said. "I am on vacation and I want a complete rest. I am not going to Deauville but I expect to visit Touraine and Burgundy and to stay a short time in Paris and then go to London."

Mr. Mellon declined to say whether he would see Benjamin Strong, Jr., of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, who is in Europe, or Montagu Norman of the Bank of England or Dr. Hjalmar Schacht of the German Reichsbank during his trip. He persisted that he mainly wished to see his daughter and his new son-in-law in Rome.

ROXBURY MAN JAILED AFTER BAILING TWO

Obis Bingaman of Windsor street, Roxbury, was very anxious to leave the Commonwealth when arraigned before Judge Sullivan in Municipal Court charged with perjury in furnishing "straw" bail for the release of two women. Instead Bingaman was locked up in the same jail from which his bond had released the women. He was held in $3,000.

Bingaman's arrest followed an investigation into the real estate on Hammond street, Roxbury, which he had given as security for the women's release. He had claimed an equity in the property.

MEXICO SCORED BY MUNDELEIN

Chicago, July 23 (A.P.).—Cardinal Mundelein, in a letter to be read next sunday in all Catholic churches of the Chicago archdiocese, criticizes the Mexican government for what he terms a "conspiracy" in "attempting tos tamp out religion in general and the inherited Catholic faith of its people in particular."

The letter, made public today, bids the parishioners to use the "spiritual weapon of world-wide prayer" in obeying the designation of Pope Pius XI of August 1 as a "day of universal prayer for the stricken church of Mexico."

"And down in Mexico," said the cardinal's letter, "there is nothing very original in the methods being pursued; the procedure following is quite crude, and bungled, and because of the very stupidity displayed by those conducting the conspiracy it has been difficult to arouse the American people to honest indignation or to irritate us into decided action, for our people seem convinced that all such attempts will naturally fail again, even as they have in the past."

LIEUTENANT HURLEY KEEPS GOLD BADGE

A purse of gold was presented Police Lieut. Joseph F. Hurley on his retirement from the department, at Hanover street station. Mrs. Hurley was presented a bouquet of roses. The presentations were made by Capt. Arthur B. McConnell at roll-call with suitable expressions.

Hurley, according to retirement custom, had turned in his gold badge at headquarters. Commissioner Wilson sent it back to him with the request that he keep it as a reminder of his many years of service and the harmony of relations with associates in the department.

SEEKS PART OF $76,000,000

St. Louis, July 23.—Suing for a share in the $76,000,000 estate left by William C. Edenborn, 78-year-old capitalist, Mrs. Sophie Meier, wife of a farmer near Gumbo, St. Louis County, claims to be a daughter by an early marriage just after the capitalist reached here from Germany.

Mrs. Meier alleges her mother died shortly after she was born but that Edenborn always recognized her as his offspring and visited her two weeks before his death.

Edenborn died intestate in Shreveport, La., and under Louisiana laws where there are no children the estate goes to his widow. The suit is directed against Mrs. Sarah Drain Edenborn, who married the capitalist in 1874.

SUPREME COURT PICKS SITE OF NEW BUILDING

Washington, July 23.—The Supreme Court has selected the southeast corner of First and A streets, northeast, as the location of its new home. The site is known as the "Brick Capitol," because Congress met there in 1815. It is also the site of the inauguration of President Monroe in 1817; of the death of John C. Calhoun in 1850, and of an old Civil War prison.

JERSEY ICE CREAM TRIPL-SEAL THE BEST YOU CAN EAT

Member of the Research Council, Ice Cream Industry

A Matter of Health

Physicians order ice cream when no other food can be safely eaten. That's a matter of health. Mothers wisely choose the purest milk on the market; that's a matter of health, too.

The difference between one make of ice cream and others is not wholly one of flavor, though flavor counts; it's a difference that lies in the making.

Jersey Ice Cream is made right; it is blended under the most healthful conditions of the purest products. It contains more cream richness than state and federal standards require.

Eat Jersey Ice Cream, the ideal food, as a matter of health as well as for your pleasure.

To Dealers

Quality builds business. People know Jersey Ice Cream's goodness. Dealers are paying more for it. They like "Jersey" service, too. 'Phone or write for our representative to call.

The Taxi Dancer by ROBERT TERRY SHANNOI

A Thrilling Story of Night Life and Night Clubs; A Mad Whirl of Adventure

Kelvin stared at the body of Bates as Josyln looked on in horror.

Joslyn Poe, daughter of a proud, but impoverished Virginia family, wants a career, not marriage. Her mother wants her to wed. The wild blood of a line of daring women runs in her veins. She wants adventure. A seeress tells her of the "wildness" in her blood. She goes to a dance. She determines she will settle her problem that night—to marry George Ranom, well-to-do, but no dandy, or—go to New York in seek of adventure. She meets a stranger at the dance.

Milton Stein, the stranger, advises Joslyn to go to the city and to dance. Joslyn, hungry and discouraged, is heard weeping by Kittie Lane, a manicurist. Kittie gets Lee Rogers, a friend, to invite them to dinner.

While the girls are at the table with Rogers, James Kelvin movie star, attemps to cultivate Joslyn's acquaintance. There is a near row with Rogers. Kelvin goes away leaving with Joslyn a sense of some strange influence over her. A few days afterward Kittie is brought home blind from bad booze. Joslyn rushes to Stein's Academy to take a job as a "Taxi Dancer" to care for Kittie. In the academy she meets Stephen Bates, a man-about-town, who offers to go to Kittie's help.

CHAPTER V.

STEPPING into Stephen Bates' luxuriant limousine was like entering the portal of another world. Even Bates seemed to breathe an atmosphere of wellbeing, a combination of penetrating, soothing magnetism.

"I can't get over it—meeting you and the way you have volunteered to take care of [illegible] Kittie," she told him, as the sleek car with its expert chauffeur glided through the traffic. "It makes New York—the whole world—seem different."

Bates [illegible] softly [illegible] leaned over and deftly patted the back of her hand.

"It's money that turns all the tricks, sister," he said wisely. "All the sympathy on earth [illegible] your little friend unless there was somebody to [illegible] down the [illegible]."

The confident ring of his words was a bracer for Joslyn's depression. "You're terribly rich yourself, aren't you?" she asked.

Bates nodded. "You said it."

"They say money doesn't bring happiness," Joslyn mused.

"It's a lot of [illegible], that line. I'm going to give you some tips because I like you. You clicked

A [illegible] FOR [illegible] PEOPLE WHO THINK

BOSTON, FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1926

SECOND SECTION

'LEVIATHAN IS DRY,' SAYS CAPT. MOORE

"Co-operation or Poverty," Is Mussolini's Slogan

HE SEES NO DANGER OF WAR

Premier Says European Nations Are Wracked Separately by Economic Struggles

Rome, July 23 (A.P.).—Premier Mussolini, watching with keen interest the difficulties besetting Europe, believes that no international crisis brewing war exists, but that a grave internal and economic struggle, wracking the nations separately, is in progress.

The Premier has firm faith that Europe will emerge into a period of stability but that sacrifices will be necessary.

"Tell the people of America," the Fascist Premier said to the correspondent for the Associated Press, "that Europe is traversing a period of acute most acute crisis, but that I have firm faith that she will overcome her difficulties. Afterward I am convinced that she will have a period of stabilization and peace."

"Make it clear however that the grave crisis, of which I speak, is not international, that it has nothing to do with the relations between nations and hence, in no sense brings up the spectre of war," he added. "It is an internal crisis that is wracking the various nations separately, not their political [illegible] but their economic and social organizations.

WILL SOLVE IT

"It is preeminently social. I am confident that the nations will solve it, but to do so all the people of Europe must use all their forces and must be prepared to make every sacrifice in the cause of peace and stability."

Asked whether he considered Fascism a pioneer political movement which might be copied by other nations as a solution of their difficulties he gave an eloquent [illegible] of the philosophy of the movement which he is leading. Italy, he said, is creating "a new type of State." Among the striking sentences in his exposition were the following:

"Liberty or death" was a fine phrase, but co-operation or poverty is more accurate now.

Fascism replaces individual sovereignty by State sovereignty, the nation for the individual.

Even the most ardent defenders of the Liberal-Democratic movement cannot be so blind as not to see its decay."

STATE SOVEREIGNTY.

"Fascism replaces individual sovereignty by State sovereignty, the nation for the individual. By maintaining its authority it protects the nation, affording liberty as a concession to individuals so long as they act in harmony with the interests of the State. Even more important is our destruction of class self-defense.

"Until the advent of Fascism it was assumed that the organization of the economic life of the nation lay outside the province of the State. It was an erroneous idea arising from the circumstance that the present type of industrial development

BARR-ELLISON TRIUMPH IN LONGWOOD NET TILT

Dempsey Gets Twenty Dollars for Fight With Meehan

THIS is the eleventh chapter of Jack Kearns' thrilling story in which he [illegible] Dempsey. It is the first time that the man who put Jack Dempsey on the pugilistic map tells of his experiences [illegible] fighter. Read this story every day in the Boston Evening American.

By JACK KEARNS

ELEVENTH CHAPTER

WHEN I got Dempsey's letter from Salt Lake telling about the killing of his young brother and his being up against it one way or another, I scraped the thirty dollars together he had requested and sent it on.

In the meantime I was interested in his request that I get him a fight. The old spirit of ballyhoo took hold of me again. I never was happier than when sending some third or fourth rater along on first rate passports. The old ballyhoo always turned the trick for me and I decided that here was the opening of my life.

Jack Kearns

I went to Tommy Simpson, who was promoting fights across the bay in Oakland, and asked him to put on a fellow that I had just taken over, a heavyweight that was going to be the next world's champion.

"Who is he?" asked Simpson.

"Young Jack Dempsey, a great fighter and the next champion," I replied with dignity but with much of the old confidence.

"Young Jack Dempsey! What, that awkward bum? Young Jack Dempsey? Why, I wouldn't give you $20 for him. Al Norton kicked his brains out. He's no damned good and he's no card. Do I look like I've got sleeping sickness? Dempsey? Blows up in two rounds! And since you've tangled up with him, let me tell you for your own good, he doesn't "take it" any too well. Tender stomach or something."

Dempsey Gets $20 For Fighting Meehan

"I can see [illegible] Dempsey," I told Simpson. "But wild or no wild, give me the twenty bucks you mentioned and I'll put him on with any man you select."

Jack Dempsey

The facts [illegible] Simpson was [illegible] around for some man for Willie Meehan, who was going good at the time and beating 'em all.

"I'll put him on with Meehan. You get twenty fish for fighting Willie Meehan, and I want to tell you that [illegible] of yours is in for one sweet [illegible] Meehan'll take him."

"Take it [illegible] and guarantee to whip him. I've got a great fighter, the next heavyweight champion of the world. I'll start the ballyhoo going and we'll make it a great fight. Remember, I guarantee to whip Meehan."

Nothing had been said about percentage. I was to get twenty bucks flat. I shot a wire to Dempsey and told him to hop the next train out of Salt Lake City. I wasn't so sure that I'd ever see or hear of him after sending the thirty on that hurry touch.

But in he walks one day in the middle of the greatest ballyhoo a fight ever got. The name Dempsey, "Jack Dempsey," seemed to fire interest and we soon found ourselves arm and arm with a "sellout" prospect.

Mrs. Kearns Likes Fistic King

When Dempsey arrived I took him over to Oakland to have him fed up by the greatest Irish cook in all the land, my own mother! She took a [illegible] off the reel and he was her pet from then on. When he commenced to get some home cooking into him, he began to fill out and take on weight. You could see him grow over night.

Experts have wondered where Dempsey got his weaving and bobbing style. Marty Farrell is the answer! He taught him every move of the style that won a world's title for Dempsey. It was that weaving that licked Willard. Farrell was a great teacher and Dempsey a perfect sponge when it came to absorbing instructions.

Besides Farrell, I got Red Watson, Jimmy Duffy and several others to box with him, and he improved steadily. He seemed to have stuff in the workouts, but I was wondering how he would go in the ring.

Jack Learns Rudiments of Boxing

Gradually I had coached him out of his old style into the new, weaving, bobbing method. When he first put up his hands he was one of the old stand up-straight boys: you sock me and I'll sock you.

I knew all about the stupidity of this style and drummed it into Dempsey. He had [illegible] Norton had broken his nose and gave him the little pug beak that the doctors had to make over in Hollywood. I began to work on a left hook for him. He was strictly a right [illegible] of statements that recently appeared under Dempsey's [illegible].

Humidity Kayoes Walker; Cycle A. C. Postpones Show

Old Kid Humidity kayoed Archie Walker, New York lightweight, today and thereby robbed Billy Murphy of Lowell of chance of doing the same this evening at the Revere bike track. The show, which the Cycle A. C. had to postpone last night because of the heat, has been called off.

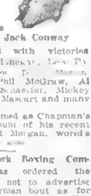
Walker, who is a title aspirant and rated one of the best boxers in the East, informed matchmaker Eddie Mack this morning that the hot spell, coming after a strenuous training week, had rendered him hors de combat.

The New Yorker was a favorite to beat Murphy, who has been resting up and is ready to stage a campaign for a real shot at the lightweight crown.

Chapman Ready for Bout With Herman

By JACK CONWAY

RED CHAPMAN, Dorchester featherweight, will finally get the recognition his work in the ring entitles him when he clashes with Babe Herman of California in a ten-round bout at the Queensboro Stadium, New York, on next Tuesday night.



Jack Conway

The contest is virtually for the world's championship. The title was first vacated by Johnny Dundee and later by Kid Kaplan. Chapman has beaten Dundee, though forced to enter the ring over the featherweight limit, while Kaplan twice defeated him.

Chapman has long been considered one of the leading featherweights in the world. Besides Dundee, he has counted with victories [illegible] Parker, Phil McGraw, Al [illegible]ott, Herbie Schaefer, Mickey [illegible], Edouard Mascart and many others.

Herman was named as Chapman's opponent on account of his recent victory over Tod Morgan, world's [illegible] lightweight [illegible].

THE New York Boxing Commission has ordered the Queensboro Club not to advertise the Chapman-Herman bout as for the world's featherweight title. The boxing fathers are anxious that a flock of other featherweights also have an opportunity to battle for the championship.

The winner of Tuesday night's skirmish will be called upon to meet Benny Bass of Philadelphia. [illegible] Suggs will later be given an opportunity to step into the select circle.

[illegible] is also a candidate for the world's bantamweight crown. He is billed to meet Bushy Graham in New York in August and may later get a shot at Phil Rosenberg, world's bantamweight king. There are many keen judges of ring affairs who believe that Suggs will eventually be the holder of both the bantamweight and featherweight titles.

There will be a large delegation of Chapman rooters on hand when Red goes into action against Herman. They will make the trip to New York by busses.

Supporting the feature event, Matchmaker Tom Mc[illegible] has Jackie Snyder Brooklyn featherweight, [illegible] Al Tripoli, Brooklyn boxer, in a ten-round event. There will also be one six and two four-rounders.

Drake Closes Doors to Crack Track Athlete

Des Moines, Ia., July 23 (A.P.)—The Des Moines Register says today that the doors of Drake University have been closed to George R. Simpson, star hurdler and high jumper, whose domestic troubles came to light yesterday in a justice court at Perry, Iowa.

Simpson, who has been attending Summer school at Drake, was arraigned on charges of non-support and desertion of his wife and baby. A reconciliation was effected and the charges were dropped.

JOHNNY BUCKLEY, manager of Jack Sharkey, is carrying on negotiations for a bout between the New England heavyweight champion, and Harry Wills. Sharkey is already signed to clash with Jack Delaney, but this bout will not take place until late in September or early in October on account of a fractured thumb the world's light heavyweight champion suffered in his recent tussle with Berlenbach.

Meanwhile Sharkey would like to tackle Wills. The latter will probably sign for an August bout with one of the leading heavyweight contenders now that a Dempsey-Tunney bout is a certainty. There is not any sense in Wills remaining idle any longer in the vain hope of securing a match with the champion.

Fenway Park, July 23. The Lynn Flyers, [illegible] Inter-city League, and the White Eagles, holders of second place, tried to [illegible] the deeds of Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb here today.

The youngsters got a real thrill playing on a big league diamond. The crowd was slim. Apparently the old swimming pool was a greater attraction to the kids of Greater Boston than an amateur ball game. The [illegible]

FIRST INNING

White Eagles—Shirosky walked. Shirosky took second on a passed ball. Schiavone singled to right. Shirosky thought the ball was going to be caught and did not move off second. [illegible] Blanch hit to Griffin, who touched third, forcing Shirosky. Naples doubled, scoring Schiavone and Blanch. Sacco popped to Donachie. TWO RUNS.

Lynn Flyers—Murphy walked. Sweeney sacrificed, Paraluga to Naples. Donachie walked and Murphy was out trying to steal third, Paralagu to Bain. Griffin walked. Daley singled to left, filling the bases. Donachie scored on a passed ball, the others advancing. Hogan walked. Dempsey flied to Blanch. ONE RUN.

SECOND INNING

White Eagles—Longo was thrown out by O'Brien. Bain fouled to Donachie. Gisso walked. Gisso died stealing, Donachie to Demsey. NO RUNS.

Lynn Flyers—O'Connel fouled to Paraluga. O'Brien walked. O'Brien stole second and went to third when Paraluga threw to centrefield. Murphy walked.

Murphy stole second. Sweeney sacrificed and was safe when Gisso threw the ball in the dirt at first base, O'Brien scoring and Murphy going to third. Gisso was taken out and Schiavone came into pitch for the White Eagles. Mante went in to left field for the White Eagles.

Donachie hit to Naples, who threw over Paraluga's head trying to get Murphy at the plate, both Murphy and Sweeney scoring. Donachie stole second. Griffin walked. Donachie stole third. Griffin stole second. Daley walked, filling the corners. Hogan fouled to Naples.

Dempsey singled to centre, scoring Donachie and Griffin, Daley going to third and, on the throw home, Dempsey took second. O'Connell fanned. FIVE RUNS.

THIRD INNING.

White Eagles—Shirosky fanned. Schiavone fanned. Paraluga walked. Paraluga died stealing, Donachie to Dempsey. NO RUNS.

Lynn Flyers—O'Brien fanned. Murphy was safe on Naple's fumble of his grounder. Murphy stole second. Sweeney struck out. Donachie walked. Griffin walked. Daley fanned.—NO RUNS.

EAGER to win a ball game Waltham's collegiate club will attempt to slap Somerville bow-legged tonight at Tufts Oval, Somerville, unless Mr. Jupiter Pluvius sheds more tears. Rain washed away "Twi" baseball last night meeting with everybody's approval except the magnates.

MAKING every possible effort to move into first place, Fore River takes on the Dorchester hustlers at the Dorchester Town Field. The normal attendance at that site is 8,000 and Joe Kendrick has proved immensely popular with every one of them. Lefty McLaughlin is the Kendrick selection on the mound.

NO other controversies are scheduled. Without any pastimes acting as supporting numbers Greater Boston fandom is to be pitied. However, the faithful servant, Mr. Automobile, generally makes the [illegible] there wherever nifty attractions are presented.

TOMORROW afternoon, if weather conditions permit, two more interesting bookings will get under way. Manager Danick's South Boston contingent goes to Quincy, entertained by Fore River, while Lynn sets the table at the North Shore stadium for Somerville. Then the turnstiles will present a busy appearance.

WIPING presperation from his noble brow, President Mooney said today that the situation was far from [illegible] at the end of the first week in the second section of the after-supper program. When another club is added nothing can be regretted and this addition is likely to be made very soon.

WE have definitely learned today that the Lynn Twilight League Club has refused to play any home games at the same time the New England League Club is on the entertaining end of a bill. Bucking the Davidson Circuit, means nothing but a financial loss and this can easily be erased by occupying the General Electric Stadium only when they are away from home.

LONE STAR NET TEAM TRIUMPHS

Big Matches in Tournament Set Back by Committee in Charge

Brookline, July 23.—A pair of youthful doubles partners from Texas, John Barr and Wilmer Ellison, survived a gruelling match with the Longwood team of Malcolm T. Hill and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., and advanced to the semi-final round of the Longwood doubles tournament. The score was 11—9, 6—4.

The Lone Star combination will meet another Texas duo comprising the national clay courts champions, Louis Thalheimer and Lewis N. White, at 2 30 this afternoon in the semi-finals to decide which outfit will clash with the winner of the Tilden-Wiener and Chapin-Bell duel.

All other matches today, including the semi-final in the Longwood bowl singles and the ladies' invitation tournament, will be held after 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Harada-White conflict, to determine Bill Tilden's opponent in the bowl finals, is scheduled for 5 o'clock.

This was undecided until the last minute as Lewis White is more concerned over maintaining his reputation in the doubles than in the singles. His doubles match is at 2:30. The 5 o'clock match will give him time for a good rest between.

Berkeley Bell of San Francisco reached the finals of the Massachusetts junior singles by defeating Donald Strachan of Philadelphia 10—8, 6—2. He will meet either John Doeg or M. G. Hill in the finals.

CHICAGO'S TITLE FISTIC FRAY BESET BY DIFFICULTIES

TEX FINDS OPPOSITION TO BATTLE

Coliseum A. C. Makes Strong Bid for Dempsey's Crown Defense Joust

By GENE HOFFMAN,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Chicago, July 23.—Despite optimistic pronouncements of an early Dempsey-Tunney [illegible] fight, a summation of facts in the involved situation today indicates that Dempsey's defense of his title here Sept. 11 or 18, as announced by Tex Rickard, is anything but certain.

To bolster this contention the involved contract controversy [illegible] cited as the most [illegible] to the proposed fistic [illegible]. There is Rickard [illegible] sole ownership to Dempsey's services, with B. C. Clements of the Coliseum Club and [illegible] Fitzsimmons, Indiana promoter, on the other side stoutly disputing the claim.

CLEMENTS' CONTRACT BINDING

It is generally conceded now that Clements' claim to a binding contract with the champion has more foundation than at first believed. It is likely that the matter will be taken to the courts for decision.

Following a conference between attorneys for both parties, Rickard announced that if the Clements' contract was held valid, he would stop negotiations for the bout.

Fitzsimmons entered the controversy by reason of the fact that he was the original signer of Dempsey. Later he transferred his contract to the Coliseum Club under Clements' direction. Because Clements and his organization failed to pay $100,000 to the champion last March, it is agreed Rickard and Dempsey claim the contract is void.

[illegible] the contract squabble there are other complications. Rickard is not a resident of Illinois and the new boxing law states specifically that no one not a resident of the State can dabble in fight promotion.

There is a strong feeling among sports observers here that Rickard made a tactical error when he, an outside promoter with no status before the State Commission, came here and announced the date and other details of the fight without even consulting the commissioners.

MASON AND SCULLY IN BOUT AT FORT BANKS

The Fort Banks Boxing Club, which went over big at its show last Monday, will stage another open-air boxing tourney on the Fort grounds at Winthrop, the night of July 29, which will be open to the public. There will be the usual band concert, free parking and other features.

The card will comprise two eights and three sixes with Jeff Mason of the Navy meeting Johnny Scully of South Boston in the windup.

The bouts have been arranged as follows: Jimmy Morrello, East Boston, vs. Al Sage, Navy, six rounds; Al Zinna, South End, vs. Jimmy Murphy, Cambridge, six; Jack Gallivan, Navy, vs. Johnny Holland, Salem, six; Harry Roberts, Boston, vs. Jerry Vitale, Beverly, eight; Mason vs. Scully, eight.

"FOUND!" You'll Say Because "It's Toasted"

LUCKY STRIKES are made from the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, perfectly blended.

Besides this supreme quality of leaf tobacco as compared with all other cigarettes—"IT'S TOASTED".

Just what does this mean—this phrase, "IT'S TOASTED"?

The tobacco is oven toasted at very high heats for 45 minutes; then chilled with the moisture completely restored. The toasting brings out the hidden flavors of the superbly fine tobacco. The chilling seals in these flavors; seals in, too, the moisture that has been restored. It all acts like a cold plunge on the pores of the body.

That's why LUCKIES taste so good. Why LUCKIES are always fresh when they come to you. Why millions prefer this uniquely fine cigarette.

BECAUSE IT'S TOASTED

That's Why Luckies Taste so Good

Savings should [illegible] made at the expense [illegible] the ability to work and no money should be spent for luxuries until something has been saved.

Estimate your [illegible] all sources and [illegible] your income is [illegible] tain estimate [illegible] which you are [illegible] budget on that [illegible]

Next subtract [illegible] from your [illegible] tract from the [illegible] you intend to save [illegible] life insurance, payment [illegible] mortgage, savings bank and cooperative bank accounts [illegible] and vacation [illegible] What is left will be your working [illegible]

Divide this [illegible] parts to be entered [illegible] sions, shelter, operating [illegible] ing and personal [illegible] improvement or development.

These equal amounts are to be used for a starting point for each division. Here and there you will find it necessary to use more money. Then the money in other divisions must be reduced in consequence. Here is a helpful table for you to check:

How many of these must your income buy?

Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

That's Where the Great Dietary Mistake is Made

IF YOU feel tired, hungry "fidgety" hours before lunch don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all important vitamines and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

Every single one of them...

NOT a fly lives not a single mosquito breathes again not a roach survives after you shoot BLACK FLAG around the house. This deadliest of insect-killers gets them all—leaves not one alive!

None escapes—because BLACK FLAG kills in a new way. This master destroyer of insect life contains a secret ingredient—the surest death ever discovered for pests. Bugs simply breathe it and die. They strangle!

But BLACK FLAG is absolutely harmless to humans and animals.

All bugs look alike to BLACK FLAG. It will kill every kind of pest which invades the home. More—it will completely rid a place of fleas, ants, bedbugs, roaches, moths. It kills every single bug which gets in. It keeps others from coming in. Try this better, surer insect-killer. It comes in both liquid and powder forms. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores. Powder is 15c up. Powder Gun, 10c. As for the low liquid prices, read them below. Make your own comparisons.

TARNISHED WINGS

by BEATRICE BURTON

Author of "GILDED KISSES" and "PIRATE OF HEARTS"

Story of a Boston Girl Who Liked Jazz Music and the Bright Lights

MERRY spends a Sunday and a holiday at "Crow's Nest," a [illegible] by Morley Kaufman, who is married [illegible] sister, Cassie. Bill Erskine is also a guest. Morley asks [illegible] he doesn't marry Merry. Bill says: "Don't worry [illegible] Merry."

CHAPTER XXXIII

That Sunday was the [illegible] that Merry [illegible] ever spent. Years afterward she looked back upon it as a horror.

All day long she pretended to be having a good time. She smiled [illegible] her face ached.

But all day she felt like a fish out of water. [illegible] a rank outsider.

It wasn't [illegible] that made her feel that way. They were [illegible] know [illegible] never heard of.

After breakfast a long, yellow car came [illegible] and Peg was [illegible]

Neither of them was pretty. But they were [illegible] and lively [illegible] made a great deal of noise. They had "pep," so Morley said.

"Hi, you!" Peg Secord yelled at [illegible] Their two men [illegible] with their eyes on Merry [illegible]

[illegible] she heard one of them [illegible] Cassie, who looked [illegible]

"Wh[illegible] I simply know my little sister, Merry [illegible] You met her at my [illegible] New Year's Eve [illegible] perfectly [illegible]

[illegible] Merry [illegible] said [illegible] Leffingwell [illegible] was so tall, Merry decided

Marsh Tuned In on Orchestra 1,000 Miles Away

The other man was engaged to Julie Secord, so Cassie said, and his name was Jack Anderson. He was smart and stocky with close-cropped hair and a [illegible]

Muriel Jealous

He was the one [illegible] went around [illegible]

In [illegible] and they all [illegible] in the big living room where [illegible] had built [illegible] fire.

Cathy Marsh "tuned in" on a jazz orchestra a thousand miles away.

Then he came across the room to Merry.

"[illegible] that sassy music?" he asked. "[illegible] and I trot off a beat [illegible] What do you say?"

[illegible] danced marvelously, Merry [illegible]

Muriel watched them with a queer [illegible] Merry realized that she was jealous of her and [illegible]

She did not care. [illegible] she was not going to let [illegible] Kaufman or anyone else [illegible] it for her. Not if [illegible]

She threw back her golden head [illegible] up at Cathy [illegible] eyes [illegible] stars in their clear [illegible]

"[illegible] you know I'm just crazy [illegible] you-oo-oo?" he crooned [illegible] along with the music that [illegible] the room.

[illegible] only laughed—a soft little [illegible]

"Well, I am," he went on crooning. "Absolute-ly cuckoo-oo-oo." He pressed his [illegible] against the wave of perfumed, shining hair that [illegible] her ear.

Merry's Poverty

For another [illegible] she hated to have the Secord [illegible]

The [illegible] dressing bags were open, showing a [illegible] of silver [illegible] Their [illegible]

[illegible] the dresses [illegible] had brought with [illegible] bags [illegible]

[illegible] Merry [illegible] she was going [illegible] she [illegible] the bag and carried [illegible] into the bathroom [illegible] dress in there, safe from curious eyes.

Always Had Counted on Muriel as Her Friend

Outside, in the bedroom, there was a sound of shrill voices, and a sudden sharp knock came on the door.

"Hi, you, in there! We're going swimming!—Want to go along?" asked Muriel's high-pitched [illegible] voice.

"[illegible] to," Merry answered.

"Well, then, shake a [illegible] We're all ready," Muriel shouted. "We're going on ahead."

The [illegible] was empty when Merry stepped out into it. As she [illegible] scarlet [illegible] she could hear the [illegible] the others in the darkness outside the house.

She was halfway to the lake when [illegible]

It was Peg Secord's voice that [illegible]

"Who's Merry looking?" she asked [illegible]

Merry Hears Things

"Sister [illegible] Muriel Kaufman answered shortly. "Do you think she's pretty?"

"[illegible] gorgeous," came the other voice. "I never saw such wonderful hair in my life. It's like spun gold."

[illegible] gold [illegible] of the kind [illegible] Muriel [illegible]

[illegible] at Cathy Marsh alone, if she knows what's good for her. That's all—I'm sure I don't know why Morley lets Cassie drag her along everywhere."

Merry could hardly believe her ears.

[illegible] Muriel [illegible] All [illegible] under the [illegible]

Merry went on toward the [illegible] and miserable than before. And it did not cheer her up when Cassie took her aside and gave her a good talking to.

"[illegible] don't [illegible] Cathy Marsh even if he asks you [illegible] Muriel's [illegible] you when he was dancing with you—"

At that Merry gave a little start. She had not supposed that Muriel had seen the kiss.

"I should think you'd be ashamed of yourself, Merry Locke," Cassie went on, in an angry undertone. "Whenever there's a man around you act like a chorus-girl on her day off! . . . I wanted you to make good with this crowd of [illegible] brought you along."

Merry [illegible]

The second day was [illegible] the first one [illegible]

It [illegible] late afternoon [illegible] didn't [illegible] drive down [illegible] for [illegible] there.

She needed Bill as she [illegible] never [illegible]

Bill Turns Up

It was [illegible]

[illegible] Merry [illegible] and [illegible]

DAILY SHORT STORY

A STRUGGLE FOR SOVEREIGNTY

By Josephine Cronin

THE [illegible] Miss Irene [illegible] Mrs. Oliver [illegible] Apartments [illegible] Mrs. Curtis [illegible] Miss Joyce [illegible] Miss Joyce was [illegible] apartment [illegible] the six [illegible] by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Treadwell Curtis.

Mrs. Curtis' "[illegible] that alarm clock next door!" at 6:30 one morning about a week after Miss Joyce had moved in, was a prick of the challenge of which Miss Joyce remained unaware for a time.

Mr. Oliver Treadwell Curtis had been sweetly sleeping. "An alarm clock!"

"No, darling, a kitten purring!" [illegible] had Miss [illegible] driven Mrs. Oliver Treadwell Curtis of the [illegible].

Despite the gravity of Miss Joyce's [illegible] Mrs. Curtis had determined to be moderate, yes, magnanimous [illegible]. Jefferson, the elevator man, should give [illegible]

He did.

"Jefferson, my alarm clock can [illegible]. Please tell [illegible] is the remedy for frayed nerves."

Being a diplomat, Jefferson reported to Mrs. Curtis, "Miss Joyce is sorry and will see about it."

Thereafter Miss Joyce heard her alarm clock shatter the stillness of early morn with unconcealed joy. Thereafter for three mornings. On the evening of the third day, Miss Joyce realized that her challenge was wobbling.

Mrs. Oliver Treadwell Curtis, in passing out with her consort, eyed her with haughty exultation, while the agent of the Girard Apartments expatiated the value of self-sacrifice to insure early rising.

Miss Joyce had heard Mrs. Curtis' comment to Ollie: "The lady is receiving her quietus."

But she did not hear Ollie's plea: "Now Gert, don't fume. It makes you look fretful, and Jackson's coming to town this week. We'll have to do the theatres, the supper clubs and the rest of it with him. I'm out for a fat order and you'll have to do your share."

"I'll need something to wear."

"Get it jazzy. Jackson likes to make people take notice. Show up your best, Gert, vamp him—discreetly, of course—and I'll write [illegible] big."

The next day, after hours of search for the right combination of dash and decorum, Mrs. Oliver Treadwell Curtis entered Richman's, the specialty shop farthest north on the avenue, in a spirit of duty rather than hope.

"What can I show Madame?" this from one of the ladies-in-waiting.

"Dinner gowns."

When the lady-in-waiting had almost depleted the racks, Madame's gaze [illegible] on a tactical blending of gradations of rose on a distant display figure.

"What's the price of that?"

After much searching: "There's no tag. I must ask the head of the department."

The lady-in-waiting returned anon with an imperious creature in deference to whom she shrank to fit [illegible].

The imperious one radiated [illegible]. She switched on a trade smile. Its beams, falling on Madame, wavily flickered. The imperious one, none other than Miss Irene Joyce, beheld in the patron awaiting her, Mrs. Oliver Treadwell Curtis.

Miss Joyce's underling spoke: "Madame wants to know the price of this gown."

"The rose georgette? Such good style, isn't it? $149.75." Miss Joyce met Madame's ironic smile with lofty sweetness. "I don't know how this gown came to be out. We are holding it for a charge customer. Sorry."

Miss Joyce saw belligerent rage kindle in Madame's eyes. Then she was called aside to settle a question of nice values. In spite of this preoccupation she was aware of a round, rosy little woman [illegible] into a [illegible] beside Mrs. Curtis. She heard: "Of all the world, Gertie Jones!" Turning, she saw Madame pucker her brows.

"You must remember me—Hattie Wilson. I broke you in at the telephone exchange. Afterward you took a job in a private office and married the manager. That's what I call making good."

"Oh, yes, Hattie Wilson," Madame murmured to shut off this fresh[illegible] swirling before her a poignant past.

Miss Joyce floated about on a buoyant wave, always within earshot. She opened the door of a fitting room, hung the rose georgette and locked the door. An hello girl sensitive about an alarm clock! Miss Joyce's thin lips twitched convulsively as Madame squirmed in accompaniment to the babble of her downright acquaintance.

Outside the fitting room Miss Joyce had paused. Slowly a light of inspiration suffused her face. She unlocked the door and, taking the rose gown, threw it over her arm. She stood before Madame, dominant, a Head of Department at Richman's.

Madame bit her lip.

Miss Joyce moved a step nearer. "The customer for whom we were holding the rose georgette has just telephoned"—she played upon the word with the relish of a medieval torturer at his chosen task—"that we need hold it no longer. I shall send our sales person to you." Miss Joyce's manner was sweet with the perfume of condescending courtesy.

Madame sat suffering in shackled rage. The sweet had turned bitter. The rose gown would be lined with prickles.

The very next morning the alarm clock rang out at 6:30 in victory.

And Mrs. Oliver Treadwell Curtis' lease had still eleven months to run.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS---

By Helen Rowland

CONSIDER, my Son, the high cost of PETTING.

For, it hath come to pass that men look upon a damsel's caresses as gifts of charity, and upon her kisses as free souvenirs and simple graft.

Yet, alas how do they deceive themselves! For, no man taketh account of the price he shall pay, until the bill cometh in.

Lo, there is the kiss that leadeth to matrimony, and for which a man payeth in cash and in installments of duty and self-sacrifice all the days of his life!

And there is the kiss that leadeth to divorce; and for which he payeth in regret and alimony all the rest of his years.

There is the kiss that leadeth unto a Summer entanglement, for which he payeth in boredom and remorse and ennui and heart-fag.

And there is the kiss that leadeth to the breach-of-promise-suit, for which he payeth in lawyer's fees and damages and publicity and humiliation.

And, there is the kiss of the vamp, for which he payeth in sighs and jealousy and bitterness and disillusionment.

Who, then, shall standardize a kiss and set a price upon it?

For, to one man a woman's kiss may be worth a life-time of devotion and a wedding ring—while, to another man, her kiss may be worth no more than the price of a good dinner and an evening's dalliance!

Yet, the Fool hath said in his heart, "A kiss for a kiss and a sigh for a sigh! For a kiss is its own reward! And, a damsel who giveth a kiss receiveth her payment in kind!"

But he hath not reckoned with WOMAN! For, in the love-game, a man playeth just to play and petteth to pass the time; but woman playeth to WIN!

And, in the end, a man payeth the full PRICE, plus interest, for all the kisses wherein he hath sought to find free diversion.

For, in all the world, there is NO amusement, without the LUXURY TAX.

SELAH.

Household Hints

Cold tea leaves, bound on a burn, take pain away at once.

Always add salt sparingly to cheese dishes, as some cheeses are sufficiently salt in themselves.

* * *

When skinning sausages immerse them in cold water for a minute. The skins will then be easy to remove.

* * *

When boiling a pudding the basin in which it is cooked must be full or the water will get in and the pudding will be spoiled.

* * *

Run a line of machine stitching round the tops of new stockings just below where the suspenders fasten. This will prevent "runs."

* * *

Paraffin rubbed on woodwork with a soft cloth will quickly remove all dust and dirt.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

By William F. Kirk

I HAF been thinking sed Ma to my dad last nite, that peepul are very foolish, sed Ma, to feer for the fuchir, to dread sum awful fate in stoar for them, sed Mr.

That is what I have been telling you for 20 years, sed Pa. Effishunt unto the day is the eevil thareof, Pa sed.

You meen Suffishunt, not Eefishunt, sed Ma.

You know what I meen, sed Pa. Do not be all the time picking flaws with my speech, sed Pa.

Well, sed Ma, it is a grate & soothing thot sed Ma. the thot that everything is rite in this wurld & nothing rong unless we think it is rong.

It is a grate & sothing pipe dream, sed Pa. Everything is not rite in this wurld. If we thot everything was rite we shud maik no further Progriss, sed Pa. We wud be like the Chineese & Hindews, Pa sed, living in the past, dreeming out days like doap feends.

You do not understand me, I feer, sed Ma. I do not meen that we shud not keap on striving & toiling up the hites, but I meen that we shud not worry about Majinary eevil.

What kind of eevil is Majinary? I sed

That meens eevil wich we feer but cannot see, Bobbie, sed Ma, X-cept with our mind's eye, sed Ma.

How do you meen your mind's eye? I sed.

Go to bed, Bobbie, sed Ma.

That's rite, sed Pa, the minnit our chile wants sum Nolege or Informashun from you & you are stumped, sed Pa, you tell him to shut up or go to bed, sed Pa. N-liten him, wife, sed Pa.

Well, Bobbie, sed Ma, our mind's eye is a strange kind of eye, sed Ma, beekaus it can see things that do not X-ist. Our mind's eye sees trubbel & it sees rong in other peepul ware thare is no rong.

Your mother is speeking of wimmen's minds' eyes, Bobbie, sed Pa. Men is differnt.

Thay are like fun, sed Ma. I haf offen herd you saying things about peepul that you scarse-ly know, sed Ma. You thot my deer father gamboled, for instants, dident you? sed Ma. You saw him gamboling with yure Majinashun on yure mind's eye, Ma. Do you follow me, Bobbie? sed Ma.

I guess so, I sed.

If Bobbie wants to follow me sothe nite I will show him wether or not yure old gent gambols, sed Pa.

We will leave my father out of this dis-cusshun, sed Ma. Going back to my first subjeck, sed Ma, hereaffter I shall have no feer for the fuchir. I shall trust in a All Wise Provi-dents, sed Ma, & live Sereen & happy, sed Ma.

Provi-dents is O.K. sed Pa, but Payday is kind of nice too, aint it? sed Pa.

You wuddent haf a Payday if it wasent for Provy-dents, sed Ma.

I doant know what it is, Provydents, but it cant be much moar handy than Payday. If thare wasent any Payday I wuddent be riteing this & you wuddent haf to reed it.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston Evening American.

My four-year-old niece was watching me make an apple pie. She picked up an apple that was all spotted and said: 'Grace, don't put this apple in the pie, because it has the measles."

GRACE KEMP,
No. 54 Circuit street, Roxbury.

MEDBURY SAYS—

STATISTICS show that there are five million men in the United States who wear knickerbockers and four million of them have never even seen a golf ball.

THEY don't play, all they do is dress a good hame.

A FEW years ago father's pants were made over for the children. Now the children's pants are made over for father.

ONE woman bawled her husband out the other day. She said he was to old to be wearing long trousers.

SOME kids have to wait until they grow up before their parents will let them wear short pants.

ONE man has been wearing knickers for a year and has never been to a country club in his life. He thought that the missing link was a golf course.

HE'S engaged to a woman who wears a riding habit every time she takes the street car.

HE'S going to give her a horse for Christmas and she's going to buy him a golf bag.

THERE'S no sense in making a fool of our clothes.

SOME knickerbockers are so roomy that two men could go walking in the same pair of pants.

THE women wear short skirts because they believe in "The Freedom of the Knees."

KNICKERBOCKERS are deceiving. One mother started spanking her kid the other day and after she got through she discovered it was the man next door.

SHE whacked him so hard that she almost broke the flask in his hip pocket.

SHE never attempts to spank her kids any more until her husband comes home and identifies them.

SHE couldn't imagine where he got the short pants, but she found out afterward that he had held up a kindergarten.

HE made a business of robbing all the little boys and selling their trousers to the men in the Old People's Home.

MOTHERS are wearing such mannish clothes lately that it's hard to tell the girls from the boys, and now the fathers are making it difficult for us to tell the boys from the men.

Red itching blisters on baby's face healed by Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19:—"My baby had eczema for three months and nothing seemed to do him any good until I tried your products. His cheeks were red and covered with blisters, and the itching was so annoying that he could not sleep. After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin practically clear. Your ointment is really wonderful and I will praise it to everyone." THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

PURPLE mist on the distant hills, pearly haze in the sky; strangely ever my being thrills, watching the clouds roll by. Drifting, dreaming and long days pass, earth in a slumber lies, Summer steps through the nodding grass waving his wand in her eyes. Earth is a maiden asleep, a-dream. Summer has wrought this spell, Summer with perfume and sunbright gleam, weaving his magic well. Drowsing earth lies in the light's embrace; Summer with the sun and song wooing the smiles on her dreaming face watches her slumber long. Earth wears a glory that knows no wane; frightful, the hours slip by; these are the days when enchantments reign over the hills and sky.

IF you would garner joy to meet your share of daily need, pay heed to desires at your feet, bloom, bud and sprouting seed. Oh, ask the lark whence his delight by fresh winds borne along, that rising greets dawn's flaming light and swells in matchless song, and seek in blue of Summer skies, in gold of Summer fields the realm where hidden gladness lies, the sweet reward it yields. If you would claim and clasp the bliss that all about you lies, regard the Springtime's tender kiss, the Autumn's symphonies. The universe holds naught too small to share its good with you; you are a part of joy and all things beautiful and true. And you are one with bliss and bloom that girds the shining Earth; one with the lily bell's perfume, with April raindrop's mirth.

MASS. 'AGGIE' TO OBSERVE FARM WEEK

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor.

Farm and Home Week will be observed by the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst from July 27 to 30, with 85 speakers from a dozen States on the program. It will be the biggest occasion of its kind ever held in the Bay State. The speakers' list includes: Dr. William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture; Dr. James J. Walsh, New York medical specialist; Mrs. Beatrice Chandler Gesell of New Haven, authority on child's care; Mrs. Evelyn Tobey, professor of millinery and clothing at Columbia University; Dr. Orlo J. Price of Rochester, N. Y., an authority on leadership; W. A. MacGregor, superintendent of Briarcliffe Farm, Pine Plains, N. Y.; Dr. Jacob E. Shillinger, bureau of animal industry, Washington; Prof. R. B. Wilson of Cornell University, specialist in apiculture, and James C. Farmer, master of New Hampshire State Grange.

Secretary Jardine Ex-Sen. Lippitt

Former United States Senator Henry F. Lippitt of Pawtucket, R. I., was elected president of Cotton Textile Institute, organized in New York Wednesday. Robert Amory of Boston was elected a vice-president. Prominent cotton manufacturers of 17 States were represented at convention. Those behind institute expect soon to have enrollment of mills controlling 18,000,000 spindles, or nearly half of total in United States. Mr. Amory was president of the National Cotton Manufacturers' Association back in 1924.

From time to time the writer has called attention to the fact that street railways have yet to learn how to operate buses at a profit. Because the loss is less through operating buses than through operating street cars over the same territory, it does not follow that anyone needs to be congratulated on the results of bus operation. Take the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, for example. This line has $437,000 invested in buses. Bus receipts for the five months to May 31, 1926, were $114,936, and the result of bus operation was a loss of $58,450. Corresponding figures for the 1925 full calendar year were: Receipts, $278,786; loss, $105,962.

In 1925 buses accounted for 1,079,716 miles of the 19,084,516 miles (car and bus) operated by the Eastern Massachusetts system. The proportion of bus miles to the total was, therefore, 5.6 per cent. It has been increasing gradually, starting with 0.3 per cent. in 1922, 2 per cent. in 1923, 4.5 per cent in 1924.

* * *

"What is the matter with business in New England?" This is a favorite query with uninformed "feature" writers. No one enjoys physical or mental perfection, and New England business is never so good it could not be better.

* * *

New England has the greatest diversity of industries of any section of the world's leading nation. All cannot prosper equally and simultaneously. If you are a textile man just now you may find it hard to believe New England is still prosperous. If you are a builder or a contractor or in any one of a score or more of other industries, you are unlikely to feel pessimistic. And so it goes!

* * *

The lightning that played havoc over the New England coast yesterday and today was nothing to the high-power bolts that streaked the Wall street horizon. One big brokerage firm, which frankly admitted it had been unable to foresee earlier recessions, started the "morning's morning" with the statement that practically the entire market was on the bargain counter. As this would hardly appear to the writer to mean for investment, speculation for the rise was the remaining inference. And those who bought speculative leaders may not know what electricity is, but they know how it feels.

Evidently the bears got control of the "bargain counter."

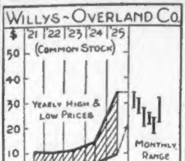
Stock Analysis



Willys Overland Company was one of the pioneers in the mass production of automobiles and at present ranks among the six leaders of this industry. Last year 214,460 cars were sold as compared with a sale of 162,988 machines in 1924. The company's plants have a capacity for producing 1,500 cars a day.

In 1921 the company underwent a drastic reorganization of its financial structure, in consequence of which its position was greatly strengthened. This is shown by the last report which indicated current assets of approximately $42,000,000 as compared with the current liabilities of less than $5,000,000.

At the same time there were no bank loans and the funded debt totalled only $7,475,000. As a result of record sales in 1925, last year's net income after all charges was equal to $4.03 per share on the common stock.

In May of last year dividends on the 7 per cent. preferred stock, which were suspended in 1920, were resumed at the full rate. Accumulated preferred dividends were provided for by declaring an issue of common stock payable early this year. No dividends have been paid on the common stock since 1920.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Most communities want to grow. They want to attract new payrolls, new residents, new visitors. Usually new enterprises are the main objective, since these create additional activity, distribute additional money and thus bring about additional prosperity. But not all communities have learned how to go about doing this successfully. From one city that has achieved notable success this column has sought pointers calculating to help many other communities.

* * *

In five months, after releasing its first community advertising, Atlanta's rate of industry growth has been doubled—as many new concerns and as large a new payroll were added in five months as were added during the whole of 1925.

How was it done? How can it be done by others?

Before a dollar was spent on advertising, Atlanta thoroughly analyzed her advantages and her shortcomings, ascertained definitely to which industries her appeal should be made, carefully worked out the best kind of appeal and set up machinery to give the fullest attention to every inquiry received.

* * *

Thorough investigation revealed that the first drive should be made to attract 20 key industries whose presence would attract others, industries supplementary to those already estalished, industries calculated to prosper.

Then, but not until then, was printers' ink released to accomplish the result desired.

"Can you get along without an Atlanta branch? Do you know how much business is passing you by because you have no branch in Atlanta?" were the first questions asked.

Said another appeal: "No longer can industry hope to serve the entire United States from any one point, however centrally located," and each of the city's outstanding advantages was in turn emphasized.

What then?

The industrial bureau of Atlanta, the city's highly-trained selling organization, jumped in. Suppose your interest had been aroused and you wrote for further information, this is what followed, as described by the bureau:

"A brief questionnaire comes back to you, with the assurance that everything will be guarded with the utmost confidence. When your filled-in questionnaire comes back to the bureau, a specialist is assigned to it. He directs the job of digging out the full information. He assembles the data—every word firsthand data, based on your problems, your situation—checks it, and then submits it to a member of the advisory council and the director of the bureau for final review. Throuhout, the utmost secrecy is preserved. Even the members of the advisory council do not know your company's name."

More than a thousand serious inquiries have come from executives who actually have the South in mind as their next move and want to consider Atlanta from every angle.

HIGHER MONEY RATES FORESEEN BY MOODY'S

"August is the only remaining month this year wherein there is any real chance of falling interest rates; but even in August the chance is not large. Indications are that the hardening of rates may run pretty nearly through the year or even into next year," says Moody's.

"The Northwestern depression, which is now attracting attention, is mostly due to too much agriculture. Other sections have prospered by virtue of their manufacturing and commercial industries. This depression in the Northwest is more important than realized in the East and is likely to be a political factor this Fall."

HEAT IS RETARDER OF BETTER RETAIL TRADE

R. G. Dun & Co. Weekly Trade Review in this week's issue will say regarding trade conditions in Boston: Retail trade, which was expanding, on account of the demand for lightweight garments, is now being somewhat retarded on account of the extreme heat. Wholesalers and manufacturers are comparatively dull. Wool is arriving from the West in fairly large quantities, but imports are light.

Wall Street Gossip

UNITED Gas Improvement Co. directors took action to provide a stock dividend of 25 per cent. for stock of record October 15.

UNION Oil Co. of California has been paid $5,594,684 by group of insurance companies as result of recent destruction of storage farms by fire.

CHARTER has been asked of comptroller of currency for Seward National Bank of New York with capital of $1,000,000.

PULLMAN CO. will establish repair shops at Atlanta, Georgia, probably at a cost in excess of $1,000,000, and has already acquired a site there.

TRADING in grain futures on New York Produce Exchange will begin August 2.

PHILLIPS Petroleum is now the largest producer in Texas with output of 21,000 barrels a day in that State alone.

BETHLEHEM Steel earned $2.04 a share of common in June 30, 1926, quarter and $4.36 a share in six months.

ATCHISON broke all records Thursday, when it loaded 8,593 revenue freight cars.

CHICAGO & North Western in first 21 days of July loaded 137,501 revenue freight cars, against 121,593 in the same period of 1925.

SEAGRAVE CORP. had net of $73,046 in second quarter, against $62,892 in previous three months.

CALL MONEY renewed at 4 per cent.

American Thread Company

American Thread Co. for year ended March 31, 1926, reports net loss of $552,729, after interest, depreciation and taxes against net profit of $1,017,325, equal, after preferred dividends, to 44 cents a share (par $10) on 1,200,000 common shares.

ELEVATED IS BUS FIELD LEADER

Boston Elevated is a leader in the bus field.

On June 30 the road had in operation exactly 200 buses. Whites and Macks accounted for the bulk of the fleet. There were 81 of the former and 79 of the latter. The rest was made up of 22 Internationals, 15 Yellow Coaches, 2 Fageols and one Safeway (double decker).

The approximate or ultimate cost of buses now being operated is $1,408,000. There are 37 bus routes, totalling 146½ miles.

With them onth of June, 1926, added the total of bus passengers for the half-year was 14,635,735. This is equal to 85 per cent. of the total number of bus passengers carried for the entire year 1925, and indicates the rapid rate at which this branch of operation is expanding.

Receipts from bus operation in first half of 1926 were $726,032. The buses are now carrying nearly 9 per cent. of the approximately 1,000,000 passengers a day served on the entire Boston Elevated system.

The 404,463 motor bus miles operated in the month of May compare with 1,290,696 car miles operated on the rapid-transit lines, 2,096,235 miles by the two-man surface cars and 1,224,525 miles by the one-man surface cars.

The greater portion of the buses now operated by Boston Elevated are running over routes formerly served by street railway cars.

It is true, generally speaking, that the bus routes, which do not when considered by themselves show a net operating profit, replaced car operation which undoubtedly resulted in a very much larger loss.

This is a factor which should not be ignored in any study as to whether or not bus operation undertaken by street railway companies is justifiable.

State Street Notes

PEPPERELL Manufacturing Co. declared regular semi-annual dividend of $4 a share, payable August 2.

GROSS earnings of Southern California Edison for six months ending June 30, say advices received by E. H. Rollins & Sons, amounted to $12,933,580, as compared with $11,722,465 for like period of 1925.

SAMUEL INSULL is negotiating for purchase of National Electric Power Co., which has accumulated widespread public utility properties with asset value of $95,000,000.

New York Curb

New York Curb prices were steady: Lehigh Pwr Sec 17½, up ¼; Un Gas Impr 114⅝, up 1¼; Gen Baking A 58⅞, up ⅞; Vacuum Oil 102½, up ⅝.

RADIO BY THE HOUR

Editor's Note:

Owing to the recent legislation of Congress that they were "hands off" the present radio situation many stations have changed their frequencies primarily assigned by the Department of Commerce.

The Boston Evening American Radio Department will endeavor to place these new wave lenghts before the radio public as fast as they can be obtained.

Washington Said 'Expect Favors or Gratitude From No Nation'

Consider that pitiful procession of wounded French War Veterans in Paris a week ago last Sunday, herded into a two-mile parade of protest against France paying any of her debt to us.

Doesn't it show that more than three thousand miles of ocean separate the American idea of JUSTICE from the French idea?

It's less than four months ago when Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, rose in the House of Commons and bitterly denounced us for collecting part of what we had lent England and her allies. He was interrupted by cries of, "Shame on America."

That, again, was an idea of JUSTICE totally different from the American idea. We have a deep feeling that, having poured out our blood and treasure to save France and England from defeat, they ought to pay back some of the money we advanced them to equip THEIR OWN armies.

It makes an American stop and think.

How would a French or British judge on the World Court vote if the court got its hands on the question of whether Europe should pay its debts to us?

Or the question whether we really have a right to keep their goods or their immigrants out of the United States?

Or the Monroe Doctrine ordering European nations to stay out of this hemisphere?

These are the sort of questions which can easily be made into a controversy with us by another country. Then that country can demand that the controversy be taken to the World Court of the League of Nations, which the Senate voted to join last January.

A judge, like a lawyer or a doctor, is a part of the people. He participates in the people's ideas of right and wrong and judges accordingly.

There is no use in saying that vital American interests would not be submitted to the court's decision. The more vital the question, the greater will be the clamor from the Leaguers, Internationalists and sentimental busybodies that infest the country. They will insist that the United States show its good faith and its love of peace instead of war by letting these "eleven good men and true" decide the matter.

America cannot safely enter such a court until America and the other countries agree on a body of International Law to be applied by the court. We can't safely submit to decisions applying general notions of right and wrong, decisions in which the European notions of right and wrong will outvote us 10 to 1.

David Jayne Hill, leading American representative at both Hague peace conferences, has pointed out that the AMERICAN plan for an International Court has always been to codify international law and THEN establish the court to enforce the law thus agreed upon.

The "World Court" we are in puts the cart before the horse. It establishes the court before the law. It originated, not in America, but in the League of Nations, which organized it and which appoints, instructs and pays its judges.

Worst of all, in the absence of a code of international law, this League Court enforces League Law, the Covenant of the League of Nations, a document which the Senate and the people of the United States have rejected as an iniquity.

This court is a fraud and a peril for the United States.

Little Railroads

How Can They Live if No One Has a Dollar for Them Except in December, January, February and March?

How is a railroad going to live where there is no business for it?

Can a string of little villages expect steam railroad service the year around if, from April 15th until the first big snowstorm, everybody depends upon the automobile?

The questions have been brought forward again by the problem which confronts the people of Bridgton and Harrison, Maine, two Cumberland County towns 40 miles northwest of Portland, where mass meetings will be held on Monday evening to determine what, if any thing, can be done to "save" the Bridgton & Saco River Railroad.

The B. & S. R. R. ISN'T much of a railroad—a narrow gauge and only 20 miles in length—but it is all these towns have and, while they will not patronize it "when the roads are good," they hate to see it die.

Harrison is a community of only 901 persons; Bridgton, which boasts two woolen mills, is three times as big. The "narrow guage" has been in operation more than 40 years and at times has appeared to be at least self-supporting. It began to slide when, finally, there was one automobile in the district to every barn. Then the Maine Central, owning and operating the little railroad, entered into competition with itself by putting on a bus line.

All the smart towns of Northern New England fight snowdrifts nowadays with up-to-the-minute apparatus, but with those two woolen mills and their payrolls in mind Bridgton wonders whether plows will EVER be able to keep the 15 miles to Bridgton Junction open at all seasons for heavy trucks.

Unless that CAN be done, unless a way can be found to keep the highways open 52 weeks and every day, the towns are faced with a serious problem. They can, it appears, take over the operation of the "narrow guage," after August 29th, but they are not sure they want to. At least, they are not sure they want to pay the bill.

Eventually, rural New England, the railroad companies and the State boards will be in agreement as to which is the workable if not the ideal transport for sparsely settled territory; whether steam railroad, electric railway, gasoline train or motorbus is the thing. Before that happy day arrives, however, many another small community will be worried as Bridgton and Harrison are worried.

The railroads, it is clear, will not carry any longer than they are COMPELLED to the burden of little branch lines which do not [illegible]n 20 miles of being self-sustaining.

CONCERNING DEATH ON THREE PLANES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE world's champion spaghetti eater died out in Los Angeles the other day.

He advertised that he ate twelve hundred pounds a year. He said he ate it four times a day at the rate of a mile of spaghetti a minute. Put end on end; he boasted, the quantity he consumed each year would reach eight times around the world.

He was found dead in his room surrounded by food. The doctors pronounced the cause acute indigestion. He had eaten himself to death at the age of thirty-three.

That is death on one plane—a low plane.

Turning to another page of the paper you read of death again.

A farmer in western Texas heard his wife scream as she was gathering turkey eggs, and running to her he found that she had been bitten by a rattlesnake.

He sucked the poison from the wound and saved her life.

But through a crack in his lip some of the poison entered his system. He steadily grew worse and the next day was dead.

That is death on another plane—a far higher one.

The first was on the plane of animals; the second on the plane of heroic men.

Then turning to another page you read of approaching death of a third kind.

A scientist seeking to conquer disease was forced to make dangerous experiments. From them he contracted a malady which has necessitated more than half a hundred operations.

Yet with only one eye, a thumb and a single finger, he returns dauntlessly after each operation to his dangerous work, and to almost certain death.

Doing work that will make life easier for those he has never seen, making sacrifices for a cause for which he will reap little personal reward, without being spurred on by the fact that he is helping loved ones or those closely related to him, he works on.

He is slowly approaching a death on the highest plane.

ARE YOU ASHAMED OF YOUR PARENTS, YOUNG FOLK

Sons and daughters, don't be afraid to take your young friends home just because you fear they may be unfavorably impressed by your parents.

You should be proud of the parents who gave you birth. They may be shabby in appearance—they may have come from the old country and find it hard to learn English—especially to speak it before strangers.

You have learned faster at school and out among your associates.

You are trying to be as American as possible, and so you are ashamed of the fact that your father and mother do not speak English fluently.

It is not American to be ashamed of one's parents.

American children are bright enough usually to distinguish between the sham and the real thing.

It is not a matter of nationality, knowing the difference between what things seem and what they really are.

Any person who is worthwhile does not judge by the surface indications nor by a broken tongue.

Your father or your mother would dress better and have more, if it were not for doing so much for you. Do not feel ashamed of them at any time or place.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"HE'S only a dog, you say, as you pat the trusting little head and feel an eager, loving tongue upon your hand.

"Only a dog—?"

What do you mean by "only a dog"?

"Well, of course dogs are devoted," you say, "and I admit they show something very like intelligence, though probably it is simply highly developed instinct. But when it comes to talking about them as if they were people—that's all bunk. They're only dogs."

"Only dogs"—I wonder if it isn't a large contract to be "only a dog?" Listen to the tale of Jerry:

Jerry is an eight-months'-old Boston bull terrier. His mouth is still puppy curious, his paws still have the puppy flop. On parlor etiquette he is still a bit short. But do not therefore consider that Jerry's life is limited by bones and beds, any more than yours is.

Jerry has a ball. A much-chewed, black rubber ball. Jerry knows that thing is a ball just as well as you do. He mumbles it contentedly for long minutes in front of the fire, or passes it with disdain when bent on adventures. But every little while, when other trails fail, the ball itself becomes an adventure.

Jerry has upset the water pan and chewed the rug. He has buried his best bone in the begonia pot and raided the laundry basket. He has also bitten the garbage man and fought five rounds with a large, temperamental blue bottle fly. Yet he's still all full of surpus kilowatts. So out comes the ball.

Ball Chases Jerry

"Well, what's remarkable in that?" you sniff. "Everyone knows that dogs chase balls."

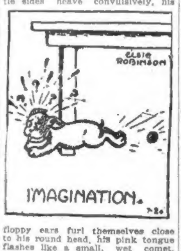
Wait a minute. Who said that this Jerry dog was going to chase a ball? Step on your emergency and tarry a bit, friend.

Out comes the ball. For one tense minute Jerry stands and surveys that ball. His ears are cocked. His whiskers quiver. If you could only see the stump of his tail you would know that Great Advents are in the making. Slowly he crouches. His small, fat tummy squashes on the floor. One hind leg twitches madly. Then a paw shoots out. A flash—a scramble, and Jerry is in wild flight WITH THE BALL AFTER HIM.

Under the table they go—down the length of the room. The ball halts against a chair leg. Jerry halts also — advances cautiously — grows tense — crouches. This time you realize there is something familiar in that stealthy advance. Where have you seen it? A small be-feathered figure, a vacant lot—a makeshift tent—You remember. The little boy next door playing Injun. That's it. Motion for motion, quiver, pounce for pounce—JERRY IS "PLAYING INJUN," AND THE BALL IS HIS DREADED FOE!

Playing His Game

How do I know? Watch him. Again the paw flashes — again — again. Out from under the table or bookcase or wood basket comes the ball. But never does the seeking paw send it shooting FROM him so he can chase it. Always it is given the swift twist that sends it AFTER him. Then off he goes in wild flight, and with each flight his excitement grows. His plump little sides heave convulsively, his floppy ears furl themselves close to his round head, his pink tongue flashes like a small, wet comet. Finally, he breaks into a crescendo of yelps and squeaks and hurls himself into the safety of the big arm chair, where he crouches with his nose safely hidden under a cushion and his small, fat hinder part wagging in panic. The game has grown so real that Jerry has almost scared himself into a young fit.



Only a dog—a very young, silly little dog—and yet with imagination enough to transform a familiar, well-chewed ball into a pursuing wild cat or wolf, or whatever is equivalent of "Injun" to a little dog.

Imagination—what is it? You think of it as an exclusively human attribute. Imagination—that's the thing that helps men change a ten-cent business into a million dollar corporation. Imagination — that's the thing that makes poets and artists, scientists and engineers out of common human clay.

WHAT WILL BECOME OF THE SUN?

By Garrett P. Serviss

A READER asks: "What will become of our sun billions or trillions of years from today when it comes to its last stage? Will that enormous mass become a planet?

It certainly will not become a planet in the ordinary sense of that term, for by planets astronomers mean opaque, or not self-luminous, bodies revolving around a self-luminous body called a star or sun.

In its original signification the word "planet" meant a "wanderer," because the ancient astronomers noticed that there were a number of bodies that appeared to wander among the fixed stars, and these they called planets.

We know now that the earth itself is just such a body, and that it together with seven others revolves around the sun as a centre. There are also many hundred excessively small bodies of this class called asteroids or planetoids.

When the sun loses its radiant energy, as we believe that it will do in the course of an enormously long time, we expect that it will resemble its planets in being cold and non-luminous, and probably solid. But when it has reached that condition it would more properly be called a "dead sun" than a planet.

Contents of Space.

Unless there should be some interference, some accident which we cannot foresee, this dead sun would retain its planets (also "dead," since they could support no life on their surfaces in the absence of solar radiation), and in the deep gloom of space, relieved only by the faint glimmer of far-off stars, our once brilliant "day-god" would continue blindly on his course through illimitable space, dragging his perished planets along with him. The loss of his radiations of light and heat would not deprive him of his gravitative power—a blinded Polyphemus clutching to him his blinded children.

There is nothing in this picture of the sun's probable future that is inconsistent with what we know of the contents of space around us. There we find along with the immense multitudes of other suns than ours, which we call stars, evidence of the existence of an abundance of dark bodies, which we can harly look upon as anything else than extinguished suns.

Some of these are attendants upon still shining suns, with which they circle around a common center of gravity, and thus they might be regarded as enormous planets, although any comparison with the planets of our solar system would be misleading on account of the immense discordance of magnitude.

Some of these dark stars are about as massive as the bright ones with which they are linked. On the other hand, our sun is hundreds of times more massive than all of his planets combined.

But all of our ideas about the course of events in the heavens, even the best authenticated theories, are affected by the fact that we are compelled to base them upon such laws of nature as we find in operation immediately about us.

We are apt to make the same kind of mistake about the universe that mankind has made throughout the ages with regard to the moral government of the world.

They have invariably pictured God as a kind of super-man, exhibiting and acting by human motives, simply because they could comprehend nothing else. So we have to infer from what we can see on the earth and in our laboratories the processes that go on in the sun and the stars.

May Change

To a large degree it is probable that the inferences are sound, but the history of scientific advance assures us that they are not so sound or so certain that we may not find ourselves ready and eager to change them after a few more years of investigation.

Not only quantitative, but qualitative, changes are often brought about by simple change of scale. To illustrate what I mean: The gravitative power of a globe of the size and mass of the earth suffices to retain on its surface the gaseous elements that make our air, without which no such life as we know could exist here.

Now, our close neighbor the moon has relatively so little gravitative power that it could not hold an atmosphere like the earth's if given to it. It would all leak away in consequence of the force of molecular vibration overcoming the force of lunar gravitation.

So the earth and the moon, though probably born from a single original, have been very widely differentiated in their planetary qualities by the mere affect of the difference in their relative masses, which determines their respective gravitative forces.

'You Said It, Marceline!'

ON "THIS QUESTION OF AGE"

SOME WOMEN TELL MEN
THEY LOOK YOUNGER THAN THEY ARE.
OTHER women kid
THEMSELVES when they THINK they kid others.
A MAN does NOT mind
WHAT age a woman is,
PROVIDING she has
Something to OFFER him
In the way of BEAUTY, BRAINS or WIT.
If she has NONE of These things, he does
Not care what age
She is, EITHER.
A GIRL with great
INTELLIGENCE always SEEMS older than she is,
WHILST A WOMAN with NO BRAINS always Seems YOUNG enough
To be FOOLISH.
AGE, these days, is a
VERY flexible matter.
A WOMAN is as Old as SHE FEELS
SHE LOOKS, and A MAN
Is YOUNG who can still LOOK what he FEELS.
